Navy Chief Urged Plane Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth said today he recommended the General Dynamics Corp. version of the TFX fighter plane without any dictation from Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara or any political or industrial influence.

Korth told The Associated Press he decided against the rival Boeing Co. proposal for an advanced all-purpose Navy-Air Force fighter because that proposal fell short on two basic points, one of them realistic cost estimates.

"It was not dictated," Korth said in an interview. "It was a decision that Secretary of the Air Force Eugene Zuckert and I made jointly and independently and then made our recommendation to McNamara."

The Navy chief said McNamara had indicated no leanings to him before he took the matter under consideration.

"None whatsoever," the Texan replied when asked whether—as had been suggested in a Senate investigation — political considerations tilted the award of the potential $6.5-billion project to General Dynamics.

Korth was the first of the top Pentagon leaders to discuss publicly the background of the contract which now is under investigation by the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

The subcommittee has developed testimony that military evaluation boards were overruled four times before the award was given last summer to General Dynamics, of Fort Worth, Tex., with Grumman Aircraft Corp. as an associate.

Testimony also has indicated that the proposal by Boeing, a Seattle, Wash., firm, cost from $100 million to $415 million less than the General Dynamics version.

Korth said the Navy rejected the first three proposals by both General Dynamics and Boeing because they called for too heavy and too big a plane, unsuited for carrier operations.

On the fourth go-around, Korth said, the Navy-Air Force evaluation board of experts recommended the Boeing model, although it held that both firms' revamped blueprints met the first requirement—that the new plane would result in a substantial increase in fighter capability.

Korth said he favored the General Dynamics version—and so recommended to McNamara—because he felt that model was better in two other related basic points, realistic cost and what is called "commonality."

General Dynamics and Boeing offered virtually identical planes, he said, but Dynamics combined its offering in a single model while Boeing proposed two similar planes, one for the Air Force and one for the Navy.

Hancock Waits Decision

Ruling Expected For Reappraisal

State Tax Commissioner G. Thomas Battle is studying a decision on whether Hancock County may be allowed to proceed with a property reappraisal.

Hancock's Audit Seen As 'Routine'

NEW CUMBERLAND — State Tax Commissioner G. Thomas Battle described as "routine" an audit of books of all departments in the Hancock County Courthouse during a visit here Tuesday.

The audit, started in November by J. Rector Britton of the State Tax Commissioner's office, is nearing completion.

Battle said Britton will report to his office upon completion of the audit, and the information then will be turned over to Hancock County Court.

al program conducted by a Dayton firm.

Battle, who met Tuesday in New Cumberland with Hancock County Court and its legal advisors, said his office in Charleston may rule in about a week.

THE reappraisal program of Cole, Lauer & Trumble of Dayton was rejected last month by County Court.

Assessor Anthony Leon was to have used the reappraisal figures as a guide to reach the "true and actual" value of property in arriving at tax assessments.

Two Weirton attorneys challenged the methods used in the reappraisal in a petition presented County Court last month.

The petition was denied at the same time County Court rejected the reappraisal and instructed the assessor to use last year's tax assessments in 1963, for the most part.

As the muddled tax picture appears now, the county apparently faces the risk of penalties in the event that Battle decides to disallow the use of the reappraisal figures.

ASSESSOR Leon is required to see that the County Board of Education has enough taxing power to raise funds for its operations, or it can draw on county funds to make up the difference in what it would have received if property had been assessed at half the appraised value.

A State Legislature act of 1960 requires county assessors to raise non-utility property assessments up to 50 per cent of the appraised value.

On the other hand, state law also requires the assessor to have tax land books completed and in the hands of County Court Feb. 1, Leon said earlier it was a "phys-

Finance Group Meets

Chester Councilmen Air Possibility Of New Levy

Methods of obtaining additional revenue in Chester for street improvements, new street lighting and wage increases for city employees were aired at a meeting of Council's finance committee Tuesday night.

Discussion centered on the possibility of submitting a 2-mill or 3-mill levy in an election or of Council's authorizing an assessment levy under emergency provisions, but no action was taken by the committee upon a recommendation to Council.

City officials had anticipated increased revenue for Chester under the recent Hancock County reappraisal which was subsequently rejected by county authorities.

Chester officials have indicated additional funds are needed for the summer street improvement program, replacement of some present lights with new mercury vapor lamps to improve lighting and for raising the salaries of city workers.

The financial needs are expected to be considered further at a meeting of Council next Tuesday night.

Council, in order to provide for the additional revenue, faces the need for action shortly in order to obtain the funds for use this summer in the street program. The annual levy estimate is to be submitted to state and county officials March 28.

Between $6,000 and $10,000 would be required for the proposed improvements and wage revisions.

A 2-mill levy would bring in about $12,800 annually, and could be designed for from one to three years, officials said.

If a levy were submitted to voters and approved, the revenue would not be available until the next fiscal year, and thus funds would not come into the city until perhaps in September, it was pointed out.

Under an assessment levy, approved by Council without seeking voter approval, funds could

U.S. Claims Cuba Troop Pullout Lags

2 Days Remain For Soviet Premier To Honor His Pledge

By The Associated Press

U.S. sources said today Soviet troops are leaving Cuba at a relatively slow pace with only two days to go for Premier Khrushchev to honor his pledge to President Kennedy that "several thousand" would depart by mid-March.

In Moscow, the Communist party newspaper Pravda said four ships carrying troops had sailed and a fifth was loading.

It said the fourth, the 11,030-ton Black Sea cruise ship Gruzia (Georgia), left Sunday carrying specialists who had been training Cubans in "powerful, up-to-date Soviet military techniques."

The New York Times news service said in a Washington dispatch that the Gruzia carried 560 Soviet servicemen.

Pravda said the 15,000-ton Nakhimov, the former Berlin, taken over from Germany after World War II, was in Havana loading troops. It might take as many as 4,500.

This is the first time any such departure story has appeared in the Soviet press, indicating a new propaganda build-up.

Pravda's dispatch from Havana said that the jobs of the specialists who sailed Sunday were finished, and that Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government had agreed that the Soviet experts could go home.

U.S. experts in Washington estimated there were 17,500 Soviet military personnel in Cuba when the withdrawals began. This was 5,000 fewer than believed stationed there at the height of the Cuban crisis last October.

The Soviet liner Baltika, which brought Khrushchev to New York in 1960, sailed Feb. 21 with an unspecified number of soldiers and airmen aboard.

Havana dispatches said 2,000 sailed on a ship which reporters were forbidden to identify March 1. Washington was skeptical of the figure, but U.S. officials said it is difficult to count men aboard by aerial reconnaissance. This ship probably was the Kalinin, another cruise vessel.

President Kennedy told his news conference March 6 he was not satisfied with the withdrawal rate, but this apparently has been stepped up.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Tuesday the United States will continue to press for more troop withdrawals. He said a "complete report" will not be issued until after the middle of the month.

Rusk also told the National Advertising Council there are still "some highly dangerous elements in the Cuba situation today."

He listed them as:

1. The possibility the Soviets would send offensive weapons back to Cuba. This, he said, would bring on a new crisis far greater than last October's.
2. Any interference with the daily U.S. surveillance of Cuba.
3. Any Soviet military action against Cubans.
4. Any forays from Cuba against neighboring countries.

Kentucky City Rations Water As Pump Goes Out

30,000 Left Homeless By Floods, Tornadoes; 17 Dead, Six Missing

By The Associated Press

Water rationing begins in Harlan, Ky., today as devastating floods and deadly tornadoes left more than 30,000 persons homeless in the South and property damage in the millions.

Seventeen persons were dead and six others missing. Twelve of the deaths were attributed to floods, and five to tornadoes.

A flash flood—one of several caused by torrential rain — knocked out the pumping station at Harlan about noon Tuesday, leaving the city and outlying communities without water.

Civil defense director Bill Haight made arrangements to truck water from fresh wells on a hillside and from a soft drink plant at nearby Baxter if the plant could distill river water for drinking.

Schools were closed in Harlan County and gasoline was limited to emergency vehicles. Many persons were trying to clean up the slime and mud.

The American Red Cross opened disaster headquarters in Huntington, W. Va., to direct work in flood-stricken sections of Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia.

Southeastern area Red Cross workers helped cope with conditions created by widely scattered tornadoes and some flooding in portions of Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee.

The Red Cross said the twisters affected at least 58 families in Mississippi, 510 in Alabama and 472 in Tennessee. The tornado deaths occurred in those states Monday.

Major damage in Kentucky was caused by the flooding Big Sandy, Cumberland and Kentucky rivers. The swirling waters forced more than 25,000 persons to flee their homes.

Lt. Gov. Wilson W. Wyatt asked President Kennedy to designate 20 mountain counties as disaster areas. Helicopters were used to ferry food into isolated communities while refugees were quartered in public buildings, schools, courthouses or moved in with relatives.

Water was four feet deep in the business district of Pikeville but was receding. Big Sandy crested there at 50 feet, 15 feet above flood stage.

A railroad fireman died when a Chesapeake & Ohio coal train slammed into a landslide and then plunged into the river near Pikeville. Another man drowned in Kentucky and a third was missing and presumed drowned.

Residents of 11 southern West Virginia counties were attempting to salvage household possessions in the aftermath of yesterday's flashing flooding that took at least five lives and drove an estimated several thousand persons from their homes.

There was no over-all estimate of the damage caused by the Guyandotte, Coal, Tug Fork and Big Sandy river overflows, but U.S. Army Engineers said it probably would run into the "millions of dollars."

Logan still was all but cut off from the outside although the Guyandotte river there reached its crest at 31.7 feet late yesterday and was slowly receding. The river's high mark exceeded the previous record level of 28.1 feet in 1957. The community also was without fresh water supplies today for the second straight day.

Meanwhile, Gov. Barron was awaiting word from Washington on his plea to President Kennedy to declare 11 counties a flood-disaster area. The counties are Logan, Mingo, McDowell, Boone, Cabell, Greenbrier, Lincoln, Mercer, Raleigh, Wayne and Wyoming.

The flood victims have included two drownings and three other persons who suffered fatal heart attacks while trying to escape the raging water.

At Williamson another of the state's hard-hit communities, the Tug Fork of the Big Sandy River also was dropping back into its banks after reaching a crest of 46 feet late yesterday. The city is protected by a floodwall up to 47 feet, but the river spilled into outlying East and West Williamson, causing heavy damage.

U.S. Launches Probe Into Soviet Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has started an investigation of the Moscow charge that American warships fired on a Soviet fishing vessel in the Atlantic off Norfolk, Va., last Friday. State Department officials said today the inquiry was being made by the Navy in an effort to determine what — if anything — actually occurred.

fired on the refrigerator trawler in "an act of sheer wantonness which could have grave consequences."

"The U.S.S.R. government regards this shelling as a gross violation of generally accepted international law standards and of the principles of freedom of navigation in the open sea," an announcement by the Soviet news agency Tass declared.

The Russians said the trawler was engaged in fishing on the high seas when the warships approached at 12:15 p.m.

"In all, four shots were fired, endangering the trawler and her crew," Tass said.

"The Soviet government expects that those guilty will be punished and the necessary measures taken to prevent such actions in the future."

Tass made no mention of dummy, or nonexplosive shells. But Moscow Radio referred to the shells as dummies.

"According to information received, two U.S. cruisers of the Boston type and a destroyer of the Frank type fired at the Soviet refrigerator trawler SRTR 9,000-7, engaged in fishing on the high seas," the radio said.

The Moscow announcement said the note was delivered in Washington, where there was no immediate comment.

A Navy spokesman in New York said U.S. Navy warships carry no dummy shells. He said the guns use live, explosive ammunition even in practice.

House At Wellsville Damaged By Flames

Fire caused an estimated $1,300 damage to a Wellsville home Tuesday afternoon at 5:15. The blaze at the home of Harold Wright, 2401 Buckeye Ave. was concentrated in the attic of the one-story frame. The cause is not known, firemen said.

Firemen said the blaze burned through the roof and one end of the upper section.

Damage was estimated at $900 to the building and $400 to contents, the latter from water and smoke.

Fourteen men responded to the call and had the blaze under control in about 30 minutes. Three booster lines were used.

New Sunday Law Version Due Approval

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Barring the unexpected, a bill to take a new approach to Sunday business closing will sail through the Ohio House today without too much opposition and plop into the Senate's lap.

Many supporters believe the new law would be the first step toward outright repeal of all prohibitions against Sunday sales.

For the first time in the 131-year history of the so-called Blue Laws, this revision gets away from a series of prohibitions stemming from a ban on common labor on the Sabbath.

It would shift, instead, to a ban on Sunday sales of real and personal property except for 12 classes of items classified as essential to the health, welfare and safety of purchases.

The vote on the Blue Laws bill, considered one of the major ones of the session, comes in the wake

Blacktop Repair Starts City Will Buy Slag To Fill Bad Holes On Dirt Streets

In a departure from custom, the administration has been authorized by the Council finance committee to buy slag for use in patching the worst holes in unimproved streets because free ashes are not available in sufficient quantity, Safety - Service Director Robert Owen said today.

The decision to buy slag was one of several that emerged Tuesday when Mayor Bert H. Good-ballet, the director and Street Supt. W. M. Laughlin conferred with Councilmen Edward Massey and Robert W. Sample Jr., both members of the finance committee, on the acute street problems created by the most severe winter weather in many years.

Two street department trucks went to a Monaca plant this morning to haul cold patch material to be used in repairing holes in blacktop streets, the director said. Each truck is capable of hauling a load of seven to eight tons. The trips for supplies will be repeated as long as the repair program continues.

All available street department employees have been taken off other duties to work on the repair of improved and unimproved streets, Owen said. Jobs such as street - cleaning and unblocking of sewers have been halted temporarily to allow the full crew to work on the repair program, he pointed out.

Citing the need of warm, dry weather to aid in the blacktop repair, Owen said: "Two days of good weather will alleviate the condition tremendously."

The blacktop patching of St. Clair Ave. alone will cost an estimated $500, Owen said.

All our efforts are pointed to

Driver Jailed In 'Near Miss' With Cruiser

A motorist who narrowly averted a crash with a halted police cruiser Friday night was fined $250 and costs and sentenced to five days in City Jail when he pleaded guilty today in Municipal Court on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

James J. McHenry, a Youngstown city employee, also was given a 90-day suspension of his operator's permit by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when he pleaded guilty to a charge filed by Patrolmen Paul Blevis and Leonard Richard.

McHenry's hearing had been continued from Monday, when he was granted a continuance to obtain counsel. However, he returned to court today without an attorney.

The two officers told the court they were in a cruiser which was halted for a traffic signal at the junction of the new freeway and Dresden Ave. when they saw McHenry's car approaching on the wrong side of the highway, apparently headed for a collision with the police car.

Patrolman Richard, who was driving the cruiser, said he pulled off the highway to the right and McHenry swerved at the last moment, averting a collision. The officers said they then halted McHenry and charged him with drunken driving.

McHenry termed himself "an alcoholic." He said he entered a spaghetti house in East Liverpool, intending to get a meal, but was tempted to drink when he smelled beer and whisky.

"A man with your background has no right to drive an auto," the judge told the defendant. "You could have killed a couple of policemen and you wouldn't even have known about it."

John Carman of Washington St., Salineville, was fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty today on a charge of driving left of center. He was cited at 6:09 a. m. Sunday on Pennsylvania Ave. by Patrolman Paul Burson.

The patrolman told the court he saw Carman's car force several other autos off the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." When he halted the motorist, Carman said he was unaware of what had happened, the officer said.

Carman told the court he must have been made drowsy by medicine which he took shortly before setting out in his car. The judge warned him not to drive in the future when taking the medicine.

William T. Burchett, 1400 Dresden Ave., was fined $10 and costs on a charge of failure to transfer registration when buying a new car. He was cited March 2 by the State Highway Patrol on Dresden Ave.

Burchett's fine was suspended on payment of costs after he advised the judge he has obtained new license plates.

William L. Worley of Rogersville, Pa., is due for a Municipal Court hearing Friday at 9 a. m. on a charge of passing at an intersection. He posted $17.50 bond after he was cited at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday on Route 30 by the patrol.

Streets

ward the condition of the streets," the director said. "We will concentrate on both dirt streets and improved streets."

The finance committee's authorization for purchase of slag covers only material to fix the worst spots, the director said. It does not intend that the city will provide free slag to cover an entire street or a section of a street, he said.

"We will use slag to fill the deep holes — the axle-breakers," he said.

The decision was made because sufficient cinders are not available to continue a former practice of applying ashes to unimproved streets, Owen explained.

Wet weather makes it impossible to scrape or smooth unimproved streets at present, Owen said. He said streets will be scraped when weather permits.

Owen added that the public has responded "well" to the city's offer to haul and spread slag free of charge if householders will band together to purchase it for use on unimproved streets.

Late last week, the director said the city would haul and spread the slag if property owners would purchase it. The response has been so heavy the city has had to hire an additional truck to aid in the slag program, he said.

Three-quarter inch "green" slag, the type recommended for muddy streets, costs $1.20 a ton. Lighter slag is $2.05 and $2.15 a ton, depending upon the grade.

Owen said the street department's mechanized sweeper also is back in operation. Its principal mission is to clear away a winter residue of ashes before it turns to dust that plagues housewives, he said.

Drifting Auto Blamed For 3rd St. Collision

An auto drifted from a parking place on Broadway at 8:30 a. m. today and hit a car which was halted for a traffic signal on E. 3rd St., police reported.

The drifting car, a 1955 sedan owned by Charles Baker, 213 Jackson St., hit a 1958 sedan operated by Thomas Russell, 49, of 844 Spring Grove Ave., police reported.

Baker said he parked his car and started to walk away when it drifted down grade and hit Russell's auto. The mishap damaged the left front bumper and fender of the Baker car and the left front fender of Russell's car, police said.

3 Hancock Mishaps Under Investigation

Hancock County deputies today continued investigation of a reported two-car collision on Route 30 about two miles east of Chester Tuesday night and two other mishaps in the New Cumberland area.

Sheriff Joseph Manypenny said deputies had not completed written reports on the mishaps by late this morning, and the sheriff's office lacked the information.

Political Numbers Game

President Kennedy reports to Congress that the United States "cannot accept" a situation in which the economy grows steadily more efficient and jobs grow more numerous while unemployment grows steadily at the same time.

In the 15-year period 1947-1962, the President points out, the labor force of the country increased 21 per cent but employment increased only 17 per cent, with consequently rising unemployment. In 1962, an average of four million unemployed persons plus an average of 2.7 million working only part-time and wanting full-time work added up to a waste of a billion potential work days.

These are sample figures in a political numbers game that seems destined to remain popular for years to come.

THE POLITICAL party with majority responsibility will take it in the neck from the minority for inability to provide enough jobs to give everybody who wants to work a pay check.

And whenever the minority gets into power, it will take it in the neck for not being able to do what it has been scorching the opposition for not doing. This is what is happening now to the Kennedy administration. It is unable to do what it was scorching the Eisenhower administration for not doing. Unemployment continues to increase on the New Frontier.

The politics of unemployment is built into the problem. Office-seekers will exploit it to the hilt. But some facts of unemployment that are built into the problem, too.

One of them is the fact the spectacular efficiency of agriculture, which trimmed down the employment total in that vital industry to the disappearing point, threw more people into industrial and service employment than could be absorbed there, despite a brisk population growth.

At the same time, powerful unions, backed by government, were forcing industrial contracts on employers that put an unnaturally high premium on replacing manpower with machinery.

IT WAS OVERLOOKED in the unions' drive to raise wages by leaps and bounds that employers do not regard their first obligation as being to the largest possible number of employees at the highest possible wages but to the largest possible profit at the highest possible wages, meaning they can pay no more than profit margin permits.

Employers play a numbers game, too, but not the same kind politicians are playing. When given a choice between reducing the total of high-paid jobs by installing more machines and going out of business, they install more machines.

People replaced in this way, plus borderline employables, plus unemployed are an undigested and indigestible lump in the economic craw. They are one of the trickiest and most dangerous of all possible issues in politics.

The Kennedy administration thought it was shameful when the Eisenhower administration could not cure unemployment with a wave of the hand. The Kennedy administration now has the same problem.

It is waving its hand, but the problem doesn't disappear.

Welcome Addition

The W. C. Bunting Co. is a welcome addition to the city's industries.

The firm's move from Wellsville to East End here was motivated by the need for more space. Since its inception a few years ago, its history has been one of progress, with indications that the expansion will continue.

The acquisition of companies such as the Bunting concern can do much to give the local economy a lift.

While loss of an industry cannot help but be disturbing to Wellsville, at least in this case it can be said that it still is in the "immediate family", with opportunity for employment remaining for residents of both communities.

Why Balk At Testing?

There is one reason the Ohio General Assembly might balk at testing applicants for admittance to state universities.

It might think about politics, instead of education.

Would-be students entering the universities are being tested now — at taxpayers' expense.

If they can't make the grade, they are dropped after a semester. In the meantime, they have cost taxpayers a large sum of money in wasted space and effort.

Private universities that cannot afford this on-the-premises testing put the responsibility on students to demonstrate capacity for advanced education on their own time.

Many of these schools are able to point to microscopic percentages of dropout. They aim to keep every student who has been admitted on the campus until graduation.

This is the practice, also, in graduate schools of state universities. Their faculties cannot fritter away time on students who have demonstrated no ability to be doctors, dentists, lawyers and holders of advanced degrees.

Would it be unjust to require would-be students in state universities to demonstrate their qualifications in advance? Would it be unjust for a football coach to expect proof of football performance from his charges — for the swimming coach to demand that his divers be able to swim?

Are tests of scholastic ability accurate enough to justify hard-and-fast decisions by admissions committees in state universities?

Or does it make sense to do what is being done now — try to expand the state universities fast enough to take in everybody who has been graduated from an accredited high school, with or without proof of ability to do college work?

One thing is sure. Ohio taxpayers will run out of wherewithal long before Ohio runs out of boys and girls who would like to take a fling at higher education even though their performance and potential would bar them from imposing on any school that had to watch useless expenditures.

30 Days Hath . . .

If anyone had predicted Ohioans would have trouble remembering to renew auto driver licenses on their birthdays every third year, he would have been hooted down. It seemed like such a wonderful idea.

It still does, on the supposition that all of us eventually will be able to remember what we're supposed to do on our birthday every third year besides blow out the candles on the cake.

But Rep. Jim Thorpe has put an idea into the hopper in the Legislature that might be a good idea, too — for renewal of driver licenses every third year by Sept. 30, with 30 days grace thereafter. This would give news media a deadline to hammer on. There would be no excuse for forgetting to look at that little scrap of paper once a year to see if its usefulness was about to expire.

Most of us can remember our birthdays, but a surprisingly large number of us have been forgetting to look at that little scrap of paper year by year.

Harbor Group Faces Red Wrath

By Victor Riesel

Somewhere deep in the American Communist apparatus, someone will push a button and unleash a skilled propaganda offensive against the crusading Waterfront Commission of New York Harbor—a mighty strategic section of our global defense system.

The commission, rarely seeking publicity, and dedicated to the protection of the vast port, long ago decided to protect it from Communist operatives as well as from criminals.

Its probes have angered Communists who have steadily worked with the criminals in a mutual assistance pact along the intricate miles of piers over which flow vital arms to world bases.

Soon the Communists will charge that the commission is harassing American citizens for their political beliefs.

There's no better time than this minute to reveal what some of those beliefs are.

COMMUNIST publications, mass meetings, motion pictures, lectures and secret propaganda offensives across the United States now are actively aiding the enemy in Southeast Asia and in Cuba.

In recent weeks, the American Communists have charged our troops in South Viet Nam with ordering "U.S. planes and armaments to be used to murder South Viet Namese." This is preceded by the statement that there is absolutely no excuse for "American troops to be in South Viet Nam."

U.S. Communists also have charged the Pentagon with a plot "to mastermind a vicious, brutal, dehumanizing war . . . a dirty war."

This is deliberate aid and comfort to the enemy. I have been in Southeast Asia and have come upon the evidence of Communist guerrillas threatening to decapitate Viet Namese farmers who refuse to supply food.

I have talked to Malayan rubber tree sappers who said, through a translator, that Communist infiltrators cut them in the back with knives while they were at work—and then warned them they would be hacked to pieces if the rubber workers did not return the next day with sacks of rice and a little money.

These are mob tactics—and the American Communists support them.

IN ADDITION to supporting Mao Tse-tung and Ho-Chi-Minh, the American Communists swiftly set up an underground Communist propaganda machine during the Cuban crisis last October, it can now be revealed.

After President Kennedy's Cuban speech last October, the Communists met secretly in Manhattan. Swiftly they dispatched a directive to their more than 30 regional and state headquarters. The word was to start whipping up sentiment for the dismantling of American bases across the world—but especially the Guantanamo installation.

Their red chorus swelled. The U.S. was wrong, Khrushchev was right. He had preserved the peace.

Now the Communists are intensifying a new anti-U.S. propaganda drive, accusing our military with using "toxic" gas and chemical warfare in Viet Nam.

This campaign, with all its ugly accusations of U.S. troops deforming the bodies and stomachs of Asian people, is beginning to roar out of Communist international front organizations, located, this time, in Brussels.

What of the rights in the United States of those who launch such attacks against America's championing of the freedom of Southeast Asia and Cuba?

THESE RIGHTS of the Communists have been unaffected. They run at least three bookstores in New York and 10 others throughout the country. They sell "Literature" written by Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai. The rabid anti-U.S. Peking Review can be purchased right off the bookshelves.

Equally hysterical anti-U.S. "literature" written by Albanians is available. So are Sino-Soviet motion pictures.

There are scores of official party headquarters and front groups in which anti-U.S. meetings are held regularly—and the most venomous anti-U.S. tones of all go to some Carnegie Hall mass rallies.

None of this has affected the civil and legal rights of the men and women whom the Justice Department charges with leading the party.

Although the courts have ruled that the Communist registration act is legal, government efforts to require such registration have been in litigation on this front for well over a year.

The Subversive Activities Control Board has ordered 12 Reds, thus far, to register with the government. But they have the right to go to the Court of Appeals and back to the Supreme Court, then down again, and up again.

Certainly the Communists are the last ones to complain about their rights—especially while they are championing the crushing of freedoms across the world.

Blockade Analyzed

By David Lawrence

Action Can Be War Or Exercise Of Legal Rights

When is a blockade an act of war, and when is it just a pacific exercise of national rights? President Kennedy has said a blockade of Cuba would be an act of war, but his use of the word blockade is too broad.

The answer is to be found in Corpus Juris Secundum, an authoritative compila- David Lawrence tion of law based on judicial decisions. This book is often used for reference in our federal courts in considering cases, including those that involve seizure of or damage to property when a blockade occurs.

Under the heading, "forcible war," the following definition is given:

"Certain measures of redress taken by one nation against another are regarded as short of war, although they may involve an exercise of force. Such acts are usually classified as retorsion, reprisal, pacific blockade, and embargo."

"The mere suspension of the relations of peace usually subsisting between two nations, and the taking by one of them of such measures of redress against the other, does not of itself constitute war."

"Severance of relations, while not involving actual force, is nevertheless coercive. A severance of diplomatic relations is a non-amicable measure, and there is a possibility that at any time one government or the other may engage in various methods of retorsion or retaliation without state of war resulting therefrom. . . .

"The so-called 'pacific blockade' is a means of coercion, ordinarily treated as falling short of war, consisting in the interruption of commercial intercourse with certain ports or costs of a state to secure redress for an international wrong."

"The accepted position is that pacific blockades should not bear on third states except as they are affected by the constraint directly applied to the port or ports blockaded."

IT'S ADDED that, if the blockade requires the seizure of the vessels of a third state, then a "regular blockade" might become necessary and this could involve a state of war.

The main point is that "measures short of war" are a recognized right of redress in international law. The United States in 1940, during the administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, engaged in several such measures, including the "leasing" of several destroyers to Great Britain for use in its war with Germany, into which this country had not yet entered.

Under the Kennedy administration, the U.S. Navy intercepted some foreign vessels last autumn when events reached a climax in Cuba.

It was called a "quarantine," but it was in fact a form of "blockade." This could have been construed by other governments as an "act of war" in the accepted sense, but Mr. Kennedy took that chance. He implied in his latest press conference, on March 6, that he would do the same thing again if he felt it necessary.

SO THE ARGUMENT turns on what steps it is necessary to take to keep armament and shipments of oil and other products from reaching Cuba.

A pacific blockade is a legitimate measure of reprisal for the hostile acts committed by the Castro government, such as the seizure of American property without compensation and the acceptance from the Soviet government of offensive weapons, including missiles and airplanes capable of being used to injure American citizens in the southeastern part of the United States.

As a matter of fact, the United States could choose to regard the landing of offensive weapons in Cuba as a hostile act by Russia directed at this country and could hold the Soviet government to account.

Certainly there is no question but that the Castro government committed an act of war when it allowed Soviet troops and armament to land on its soil for the purpose of preparing for an attack on the United States.

THUS, "BLOCKADE" and an "act of war" are words that depend for their real meaning on what interpretation a government chooses to give them.

A course of watchful waiting can always be adopted until some overt act removes all doubt as to what is an act of war.

Economic pressure, however, can be exerted at any time by means of a boycott and by other measures short of war, including pacific blockade.

These steps would be defensive and would be designed to weaken the Castro government's power to injure this country or the peoples of other countries in this hemisphere.

Churchill Barely Made It

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON Winston Churchill barely made it.

For years he was tormented by the thought he had to make a name for himself early because he expected to die young, like his father.

He didn't die young and by the time he was 65 he was a political failure. If he had died then, in 1939, he would have been at best only a footnote in history.

He was despised, distrusted and even hated by many in British politics, including many members of his own Conservative party. He had practically no following.

He was recognized as a tremendous and delightful orator. But all through the 1930s, while he urged Britain to arm against Hitler, there were doubts about his judgment.

His judgment had not always been good. He was impulsive, sometimes erratic, and he always had an urge to run the show.

The war came, just as he had warned. He was brought into the Cabinet in 1939. On May 10, 1949, the day Hitler attacked the West, he was made prime minister.

In the next five years—the time it took to win the war—his leadership, and the inspiration he gave both his own people and Britain's allies, made him one of the greatest figures in history.

He is 88 now, and fragile. Congress, anxious to pay him tribute in his lifetime, is about to make him an honorary American citizen, something it has done for no other man. The House approved this Tuesday, the Senate will soon.

There were many reasons for Churchill's failure until he was 65. He switched from right to left and back to right, he fought with his own party, and he got mixed up in mistakes and disaster.

He belonged more in the 19th than the 20th century when he first entered Parliament in 1901, the year Queen Victoria died after a reign of 64 years. He was a true Victorian.

He was a reactionary, an isolationist, a pacifist, an imperialist (he remained an imperialist into his old age), a boob in economics, without a clear philosophy except for getting ahead.

He lacked understanding of both workers and the poor. He fought against enlarging the army, although the Kaiser's Germany was arming. His vision was so poor he couldn't picture any more large land battles.

He fought with his Conservative party's leadership and got no advancement or recognition. In three years he switched over to the Liberals. His critics said he was an opportunist.

But he became in a hurry a flaming Liberal and in the next few years helped put through a raft of social legislation unprecedented in British history.

He urged a "soak-the-rich" tax, particularly against the rich land-owning dukes, although he had nine dukes in his own family background. Like President Franklin D. Roosevelt later, he was called a "traitor to his class."

Why was he picked as prime minister in 1940 when he had been repudiated so long?

This is a reasonable answer: Until then he had been out of tune with popular thinking which had become pacifist. When the danger of Hitler became unmistakable—by war—popular thinking and Churchill's thinking became one: total resistance to the Nazis.

No sooner was the war over than the voters threw him out and replaced him with a Labor government. Again why? Churchill, absorbed in the war, had given no thought to peacetime needs. The Laborites did. They had a program. Churchill and his Conservatives had nothing to offer except Churchill's photograph.

After six years of the Laborites, the people in 1951 put Churchill back in power. But he was 77 then. In 1955, when he was 81 and growing feeble, his own Cabinet asked him to step down. He did although he still is in Parliament.

ical impossibility" to have the books finished on that date, and this was one point raised in the petition of the Weirton attorneys challenging the reappraisal.

BATTLE MAY decide to allow the assessor to use the reappraisal program and assess property at 40 per cent of its appraised value and take the next three years to bring assessments up to the 50 per cent level.

He was reportedly given the authority to permit counties being reappraised to use the 40 per cent figure in a State Legislature bill enacted Saturday.

Cities of Chester, New Cumberland and Weirton, the County Board of Education and County Court are awaiting Battle's decision before mapping out new budgets for fiscal 1963-64.

If Battle decides to disallow use of the reappraisal until next year, it appears that the taxing bodies will be forced to set their operating budgets along the same lines as last year.

IN A BRIEF statement, Battle said he visited the county "to review the assessments and valuations for the current assessment year with County Court and the assessor, to determine the proper steps that my office needs to take to comply with provisions of law regarding the reappraisal."

"Both the assessor and County Court tried to do what is right and anything my office may do concerning the situation will be for the benefit of all people in Hancock County," Battle said.

"In view of the time regarding the levying bodies, I expect a decision will be made on the question within a week." He referred to a March 28 deadline facing municipalities in adopting budgets for the new fiscal year.

BATTLE was accompanied by Wendell Bowyer, director of the reappraisal program in West Virginia.

Battle met with County Commissioners William C. Graham, Robert E. Roach and James Finley, Prosecutor Floyd R. Tarr and his associate, Atty. Don Donnell, County Clerk Donald Stewart and Assessor Leon.

be realized upon passage, it was reported.

Council's finance committee includes Donald Chaney, chairman, Wayne Hutton and Carl Graham. Chaney was absent due to flu.

Also attending the session were Mayor Harry Abrams and Councilmen Donald Hissam and Charles Kology and City Solicitor Ruth Cox Turner.

Other revenue possibilities listed apart from a levy were the capitation tax, license fees, amusement tax, driver's license and domestic animal tax.

The present capitation tax, which now applies only to men, brings in some $3,700 a year. Driver license fees and other licenses are also used at present for revenue.

Chester has had but one levy in many years, according to officials, referring to the fire truck assessment levy approved by Council for the 1958-59 period. This 50-cent a month levy brought in funds needed for a new fire truck.

Major revenue for the city comes from real estate taxes, about $21,000; general licenses, $7,000; driver licenses, $3,200; mayor's court, about $3,500; City Hall rents $2,000; sewer collections and connection fees, $4,500; state liquor tax, $4,500, and lesser revenues.

Penalty Given 5 High School Boys In Fight

Five students who allegedly participated in a brawl early Monday afternoon in a confectionery adjoining the high school were penalized Tuesday afternoon when they appeared with their parents before Juvenile Officer James Miller at City Hall.

Miller ordered 30 days' detention for each boy, but suspended it pending future good behavior. He instructed each to go home immediately after school daily and ordered them to refrain from visiting the confectionery where the incident occurred for the balance of the school term.

The boys allegedly participated in a fight at Birch's Confectionery, immediately adjacent to the high school, during the lunch hour Monday.

Miller prefaced the penalties with a stern lecture to each of the youths. He said three are seniors, one is a junior and one is a sophomore.

Patrolman William A. Devon was dispatched to the confectionery Monday after police received a report students were involved in a fight there.

After talking with the youths and conferring with high school authorities, the patrolman cited the five to appear before Miller.

Only one participant was injured to the extent he required treatment at City Hospital. Three others suffered black eyes and bruises, police said.

School authorities and police agreed the investigation disclosed that the fight stemmed from an earlier discussion between two boys at the end of a shop period.

The boys renewed the argument in the confectionery at lunch and a shoving incident took place that touched off a general battle, police said.

In a meeting with school officials after the disturbance had quieted, the boys "shook hands and parted friends," officers said.

Another Spring Sign: 7 Wild Geese Sighted

Another sign of spring to accompany the unseasonable temperatures was reported Tuesday afternoon by a Wellsville district man who sighted seven wild geese feeding in a field.

Edward Serafy, who operates a farm on Route 39, said he spotted the seven big geese feeding in a field on his farm about 2:30 p. m. yesterday. They may have been part of a flock migrating back to northern climates after a winter in the south, he said.

Serafy said the birds were "huge," but he had no idea of their species. The sight of a frozen pond in the area may have encouraged them to land, he added.

Barron Signs Redistricting Act; Suit Due

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—Gov. Barron has signed the legislative reapportionment act with the expectation that a suit pending in U.S. District court here will be pressed to determine the act's constitutionality.

The governor said he decided to sign the measure because it was his "unyielding conviction that it is the absolute right and responsibility of the Legislature to determine its own makeup."

The act increases House of Delegates seats from 100 to 106 and continues the long-standing practice of giving each county at least one delegate — no matter how small the population.

It also establishes another Senate district for Kanawha County—giving that county four senators instead of two.

Barron said that final determination of the constitutional merits of the bill can be established only by the courts. He added that if he did not feel it was his prerogative to discard a bill in which the Legislature had agreed to apportion itself.

The Kanawha County Court has filed the suit, challenging the Legislature's make-up in the light of constitutional requirements for more equal representation.

Mrs. Mildred McKim reported for the treasurer, Mrs. Mary Daily, announcing dues receipts have been mailed.

Announcement was made of the spring meeting of the City Federation of Women's Clubs March 27 at the Mary Patterson Memorial when a style show will be featured.

A letter from international said that suggestions for resolutions and amendments to the standing rules and bylaws must be in by June 15.

Mrs. Maureen Koepke sent letters to the club and president for hospitality extended during her recent official visit.

Correspondence included a letter from Floyd Lower, secretary-treasurer of the Columbiana County Forests and Parks Council, concerning Beaver Creek State Park.

Board Gets Reports

Chamber Slates Year's Projects

Chamber of Commerce activities for the year were charted in reports submitted by 10 committee chairmen Tuesday night at a dinner meeting with the Board of Trustees at the Travelers Hotel.

About 30 attended the session, a recently inaugurated custom to permit committee heads to keep the board posted on programs being mapped out at the outset of a new year. Robert E. Boyce, first vice president, presided in the absence of William D. Ogilvie, president.

COMMITTEE reports were presented by:

Charles Taylor, business relations; H. James Allison Jr., civic and community affairs; Atty. Francis H. Lang, highways; Alvin T. Babb, industrial development; John T. Hall, legislative affairs.

Dean Wilhelm, manufacturers' council; George A. Shaw, membership; Ralph A. Finley, East Liverpool Merchants Association; Dr. C. M. Mayberry, public education, and H. J. English, safety. Babb cited the possibility of organizing an industrial development corporation to provide plant sites, buildings or other inducements for new industries to locate here. Financing such an organization would require contributions of approximately $500 each from 40 or 50 business and professional men, Babb said.

Babb distributed a check list containing an outline of suggested information required by the industrial committee. It covered points on the community such as market information, industrial facilities, the labor market, financial and government information and general facilities such as recreation and cultural opportunities.

BABB COMMENTED the committee hopes to prepare a new brochure on the area for interested business and industrial concerns, principally by updating the information in an existing publication. One of the committee's principal objectives will be to assist existing industries, he said.

In a report for the highway committee, Atty. Lang said it hopes to arrange a meeting soon with Earl Nelson, new head of the State Highway Department's Division 11 office at New Philadelphia.

He gave a general review of the outlook for continued highway improvement and construction in the area, including a report on progress on the Lake Erie - Ohio River Highway that will link East Liverpool and Ashtabula.

In his report for the membership committee, Shaw said it enrolled 55 new members in a drive last year. No all-out campaign is planned in 1963, but another probably will be held in 1964, he said. The committee will maintain contact with the Chamber's present members to assure they are taking full advantage of the organization's services, he said.

IN REPORTING for the business relations committee, Taylor substituted for Richard R. Emmerling, the chairman. He said it expects to organize economic discussion groups and a workshop on "Freedom vs. Communism," two programs which it conducted last year. It also will assist the schools in their Career Day program, he said.

Allison, reporting for the civic and community affairs committee, said it has commended the Junior Chamber for its work in urging preparation of a master plan for the community.

The committee will support the citywide spring cleanup campaign, usually held in May, he said. It will propose that the Board of Thompson Park Commissioners take over administration of municipally-owned ground in the vicinity of the Chester Bridge, Allison added.

Reporting for ELMA, Finley said it has a committee working toward additional off-street parking facilities for the downtown area. A new street lighting system in the business area, which was sponsored by the merchants, should be in operation by this fall, he said.

FINLEY ALSO cited the organization's plans to provide new trash receptacles for the downtown area. He said it is pushing a program for beautification of stores "inside as well as outside."

In reporting for the public education committee, Dr. Mayberry acted for Edwin Maloney, the chairman. He said it expects to conduct again two principal projects that have marked the last several years.

They are a scholarship recognition dinner honoring the students in the top 10 per cent of the graduating classes at East Liverpool, South Side, Newell, Chester and Beaver Local High Schools and a reception next fall for new teachers in area school systems.

English, reporting for the safety committee, said its program also will be patterned after its work in the last few years. It will sponsor the local observance of National Fire Prevention Week in October and participate in a school patrol recognition program in September. The committee will continue to maintain contact with the City Traffic Commission, he added.

ENGLISH CITED a bill before the State Legislature to limit driver's licenses to persons 18 or over instead of allowing permits for youths at 16. He said he does not believe the law will be approved "in its present form." He also expressed approval of a bill before the legislature to make motor vehicle inspection compulsory.

E. R. Chandler, executive manager, read a letter announcing the annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber will be held at Washington April 28-May 1. Four indicated last night they expect to attend—Babb, Taylor, Chandler and Boyce. Others wishing to attend should make reservations through the Chamber office, Chandler said.

He also read a letter from the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Federal Bar Association announcing a seminar will be held March 22 at Duquesne University in Pittsburgh by the Small Business Administration and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, concerned principally with government procurement opportunities for small businessmen.

A. C. Purinton Jr. reported on a legislative conference at Columbus March 6-7 sponsored by the Ohio Chamber. A local delegation attended. Purinton gave a summary of new bills proposed in the legislature which were reviewed at the Columbus meeting. The session opened with invocation by Atty. Lang.

Papers And Key Union Resume Cleveland Talks

CLEVELAND (AP) — Publishers of Cleveland's two daily newspapers, shut down by a strike for 104 days, resume negotiations today with the Photo Engravers Union, which is considered one of the key unions in ending the marathon labor dispute.

Charles Thomson, secretary-treasurer of the Photo Engravers, indicated the two sides are at least $6 apart on a two-year contract. The union is asking $16-a-week wage increases over the two years, plus improvements in fringe benefits.

Six unions now have agreed to wage increases on or close to the pattern of $10 a week over two years. Latest is the Building Service Employees Union, whose members ratified a new agreement Tuesday. That union, which represents 102 employees at the Plain Dealer and the Cleveland Press and News, was not on strike.

The photo engravers, who were to meet publisher representatives in the offices of Federal Mediator Gilbert J. Seldin, also are not on strike.

Striking unions now are the printers, mailers and machinists.

Crucible Sets Facility Move

The Crucible Steel Co. is completing plans for moving its research facilities into the new research center on Parkway West at Pittsburgh next month, with full occupancy expected by June.

The building is sheathed in stainless steel of a new type but not yet introduced to the market by Crucible.

Joel Hunter, president of Crucible, has said that the goal of the steel industry has to be lower production costs, improved steel properties, and the discovery of new types of steels.

Hunter said in the 1962 annual report of Crucible, these are essential for competitive survival.

Crucible is now spending around $4 million annually for research and development. That includes customer service but excludes engineering, quality control and market research.

Hunter said the $4 million research figure is the largest sum the company believes to be practical and appropriate for Crucible.

The steel company president said it cannot do everything it would like to do in scientific effort. It therefore becomes necessary to be selective.

Station A Project Starts

Ground Broken For East End Postal Branch

Ground for the new Station A postal branch in the East End was broken at a brief ceremony Tuesday afternoon at the tract at 1173 Pennsylvania Ave.

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Postmaster Samuel W. Brown and Charles J. Bosco of Park Way, who will own the structure and lease it back to the department, turned the first spadeful of dirt. Others at the ceremony were Theodore W. Burke, Station A superintendent, Paul Brown, general contractor, and Robert F. Beatty, architect.

Actual construction is expected to get under way the first of next week on the one-story brick structure, which will have 2,045 square feet of interior space, a loading platform of 211 square feet and 4,115 square feet of paved area for parking and truck maneuvering. The building will be air conditioned. The building will be located about two blocks east of Boyce St. with 66 feet of frontage on Pennsylvania Ave.

Bosco, president of Riverview Orchids, Inc., was awarded a contract last fall to erect the building and lease it to the postal department for 10 years at an annual rental of $4,000. The lease also provides for two five-year renewal options.

The new facility will replace the present office in a temporary location at 529 Mulberry St., where it was moved in 1960 when the First Federal Savings & Loan Association began an extensive remodeling of its structure. Station A had been located in the savings and loan firm's building for many years prior to the move.

He said he was so impressed with the role of health in living, he made it the subject of his graduate work and sought to relate physical education, health education and religious education.

He said the community of Congress north of Wooster adopted such a co-operative plan and stimulated the town to new growth.

of the first floor defeat of any bill this session. A move to reconsider the defeat, however, is reported afoot.

The House defeated a proposal sponsored by Rep. Fred Cassel, R-Wyandot, to set a statewide uniform rule effective in 1967 that a child must reach his sixth birthday by Sept. 15 to be eligible for school entrance that autumn. The vote was 65 yes and 66 no with 69 votes needed to send it to the Senate.

School boards now act independently on admission policies regarding age.

The Senate voted on only one bill and passed it 24-9 after getting its dander up briefly. The bill, which now goes to the House, permits local school boards to waive tuition for foreign students visiting this country for study.

Opponents, both Republicans and Democrats, complained the measure gives local boards the right to grant privileges to foreign students that they are now allowed to give children in adjoining school districts or counties.

Those who blasted the bill indicated they might have supported it had the free-tuition permission been limited only to students under the official exchange between nations.

In committee action: The House Agriculture Committee unanimously recommended passage of a bill to legalize concession games on the midways of county fairs. A floor vote is probable next week.

The Senate Education and Health Committee recommended passage of two bills permitting seven-member boards of trustees for state university branches and giving university branch districts authority to initiate tax levies.

The same committee also held its first hearing on a House-passed bill to create a state board of regents to oversee and supervise operation of the six state universities. It largely duplicated earlier House hearings.

The House Conservation Committee held its first hearing on a bill to permit an open season on mourning doves. Sponsor of the bill, Rep. Thomas Pottenger, R-Hamilton, asserted the bird is a fast flyer and would provide good sport for Ohio hunters. He estimated the Ohio mourning dove population at 2½ million.

With bill introduction deadline in the House only six days away, the flow slowed to only including measures to: Give private water the right of eminent domain. Set a $50 fine for litterers, like pitching beer cans. Create a Marysville Court.

Give New Concord $100,000 for the execution of a statue of the first American to orbit Earth.

Create "county aid centers" to care of poor relief recipients. The Rep. Roy Gilliland, R-figures such care center operated more cheaply than cost of supporting welfare recipients.

Limit Department of Resources land purchases to 3 per cent of acreage.

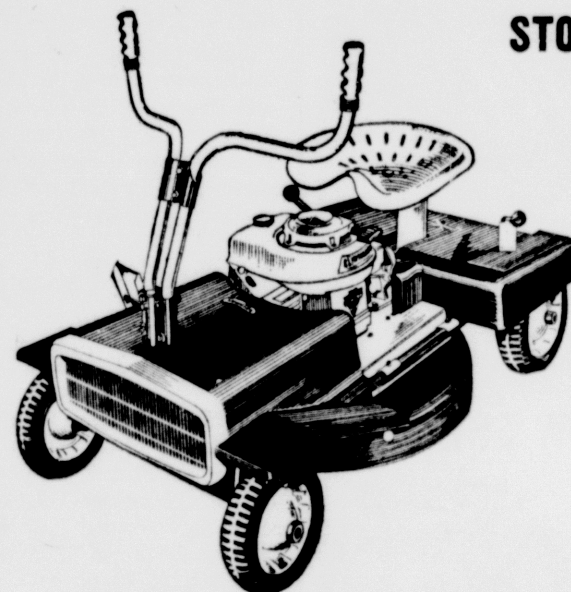

Outlaw the hiring of child laborers.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Three months after our marriage my wife and I had a spat. She said, "I'm sorry." That was 20 years ago and she never has uttered those words since.

I have to be the one to give in right or wrong. If I refuse, she turns on the ice and I get the silent treatment. This can go on for days and even weeks. Finally I decided life in a deep-freeze isn't worth it, so I apologize, even though I know she is in the wrong.

She moved into the guest room on New Year's Day and has been there ever since. She says she'll move back when I apologize.

We have two children, no money worries, no drinking problem, and no pesky in-laws. I've never looked at another woman, although there are times when I wonder why.

Is it possible I've been right only once in 20 years? What do you suggest?—ETERNALLY WRONG.

Dear Eternally: I suggest that it would be nice if there were at least one adult in your family. Since your wife is operating at an 11-year-old level why don't you be the grown up?

She knows when she's right and when she's wrong. If two little words can thaw the deep freeze, say 'em, for heaven's sake... don't just stand there and shiver!

It's Son's Choice

Dear Ann: Our son is 19. He is in college and making fairly good grades.

During Christmas holidays Maynard went to visit his girl friend who lives in another city. While there he called and announced that he had given her a ring and wanted us to meet the girl's family.

When we got there we were shocked to see the ring was actually a wedding band with two rows of diamonds. My husband hastened to inform Maynard that the "engagement" ring actually was a wedding band.

Maynard said his girl didn't like the conventional engagement rings so they decided on the band. Now, how do we explain this ring to our friends? It looks to all the world as if they are married.

Maynard didn't react well to his father's criticism and says we are making a big flap over nothing. Are we?—M AND D.

Dear M and D: If Maynard and his fiancée don't care for conventional engagement rings they probably don't care what conventional people say.

Make no apologies to your friends for the girl's ring. You neither have to defend nor explain your son's "taste."

Dislikes Method

Dear Ann: I'm a high school student 17 years of age. A few weeks ago I had an accident in my mother's car. No one was injured but the repair bill was $50.

My parents are making me pay for the damages which I think is fair, but I don't like the way they want to do it.

I get an allowance of $4 a week. They want to take out $2 a week which would leave me poverty-stricken. I wouldn't have a spare nickel.

I want to pay the repair bill with money from my bank account. This money has been put away for my future education. I would return the $50 to the bank account when I go to work this summer.

My parents have agreed to abide by your decision. What do you say, Ann?—CRASH.

Dear Crash: You're going to hate me but your parents are right. Punishment is useless if it imposes no burden.

The alternative which you have dreamed up for yourself is too painless. Take your lumps like a good kid.

High Court Due To Allow Woman Gain Jail Release

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Legal technicalities are expected to be cleared up today which will allow the Ohio Supreme Court to accept $15,000 bond and allow Mrs. Willie Mae Mallory to be released from the Cuyahoga County Jail where she has been for more than a year.

Mrs. Mallory's attorney posted the bond Tuesday, but it was not accepted because of a technicality involving a power of attorney provision.

Mrs. Mallory, a 35-year-old Negro, was jailed last March after her request for a writ of habeas corpus to prevent her extradition to North Carolina was denied. She had been arrested previously on a fugitive warrant on Oct. 12, 1961. The woman is accused of kidnapping a Monroe, N.C., white couple during a 1961 racial disturbance there.

Former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle signed the extradition order and Mrs. Mallory subsequently appealed to the U.S. Supreme court on grounds she would not receive a fair trial in North Carolina.

Kobuta Local Files Charges With NLRB

BEAVER — Local 874 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union has filed charges with the National Labor Relations Board, accusing the Koppers Co. of failure to bargain in good faith for a contract at its Kobuta plant.

The union also accused Koppers of meddling in union affairs. Employees returned to their jobs at the plant under a working agreement following a six-month strike that ended last November. Contract negotiations are continuing.

Last week the local accused the company of failure to accept recommendations and interpretations of the federal mediation service.

Among other things, the union accused the company of demanding excessive overtime work from employees under threat of disciplinary action and discharge.

Granted URA Loan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Ohio Department of Industrial and Economic Development has been granted $110,580 by the Urban Renewal Administration to aid the communities of Beaver, Piketon, and Waverly and the counties of Brown, Guernsey, and Pike in comprehensive planning. The grant is to be supplemented by $36,860 in state and local funds.

Police Pressing Investigation Of Narcotics Ring

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police are trying to wind up their investigation of an interstate narcotics ring doing an estimated $1,000 business a week.

Five persons were arrested Tuesday and more may be rounded up in the next few weeks. Police said the ring operated in southern Ohio, northern Kentucky and southeastern Indiana.

"Their operation was big and was growing larger," Elmer Robisch, city narcotics detective, said after Marvin Smith, 38, and James Smith, 30, were arraigned before a U.S. commissioner who set a hearing for March 22.

The Smiths, no kin, were charged with importation, possession and sale of heroin and with failure to have an Internal Revenue Service stamp permitting narcotics sales.

Sheep Producers To Hold Banquet

LISBON — The annual winter meeting and banquet of the Columbiana-Mahoning-Carroll County Sheep Producers Committee will be held at 7 p. m. March 28 at the Dublin Grange Hall, a mile east of Canfield.

Carl Bradford of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster will be guest speaker. He will show slides of his recent trip to the British Isles and will bring producers up-to-date on sheep research underway at the station.

Election of committeemen, yearly business and special entertainment will complete the program.

Banquet reservations should be forwarded to the Co-operative Extension Service office before March 20, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

The event is planned by the tri-county sheep committee and is sponsored by the Co-operative Extension Service.

Big Window Broken At Auto Sales Agency

A big window was broken overnight in the building of a Pennsylvania Ave. auto sales agency, the company told police Tuesday.

The 72-x-76-inch sheet of plate glass was broken sometime between 9 p. m. Monday and 9:20 a. m. Tuesday at C. & J. Motors, 948 Pennsylvania Ave., owned by Jack Cook of Maple Dr., Calculata, officers said.

Norman Stillwell, used car salesman, discovered the damage, officers said. Patrolman Orin C. Smith, who investigated, reported it appeared a passing motor vehicle's wheels may have hit a stone on the street, causing it to fly and strike the window.

8 Counties In Ohio Due U.S. Flood Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven Ohio counties, hard hit by last week's floods, have been designated disaster areas by the Small Business Administration.

The designation permits owners of homes, businesses, churches and charitable institutions whose property was damaged or destroyed to apply to the SBA for reconstruction or rehabilitation loans at 3 per cent interest.

The Ohio counties listed, which includes adjacent localities, were Adams, Butler, Clermont, Greene, Hamilton, Montgomery and Sandusky.

Underweight Mother Offers Gain Suggestions

Thin girls, pull up a rocker and let's take a relaxed attitude toward gaining needed pounds and curves. You realize that being on the thin edge is an energy drain, and that 5 to 15 pounds could turn a minus into a plus, in many ways.

One young mother writes: "I barely weigh 100 pounds and I'm 5 feet 5" tall, nearing 30 and have been married three years. I have a healthy, chubby, very active 16 months old baby. My normal pre-baby weight was 115 to 120 pounds. No matter what I eat, or how well I follow my doctor's instructions to 'take-not-quite-so-good-care-of-baby,' I can't gain. I don't smoke. Any suggestions?"

A wise doctor friend of mine always advises his underweight, tired young mothers to try for a rhythm of rest-work throughout the day.

HIS SUGGESTION is that you work for 50 minutes, and rest 10 minutes, and do this for each hour throughout the day. He means either to lie down, completely relaxed, or sit in a rocker and let go with your mind and your muscles.

At first this interruption will be an annoyance. But if possible give it a real try. The returns in well-being will amaze you.

To be truthful, the young mother in today's story doesn't sound like the tired type. Still there is a gap in her fuel intake and energy out-go, and this rest period could tip the scales in her favor.

Early in the day when the whole body is rested is the time to eat a good meal. When you are rushed in the morning you do not get a chance to sit down and eat a leisurely meal, so you're off to a poor start.

Just changing this one pattern and eating breakfast after the pressure is off, can work a miracle. Since your state of nutrition depends more upon what you assimilate than on what you eat, it is most important to eat when rested.

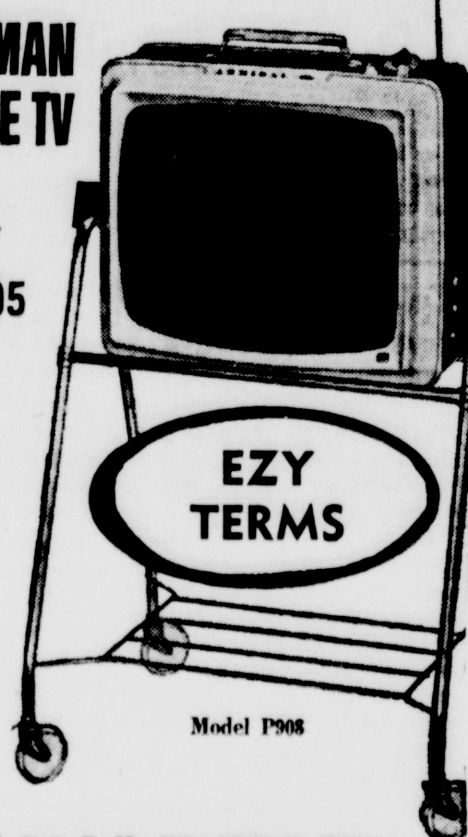

Back to the work-rest rhythm. If you can learn to let go with your muscles, this will go a long way toward helping you to work in a relaxed way, instead of getting wound up as the day wears on. More often than not tension is back of underweight, for tension squanders precious calories. By the way, are your muscles tensed at the moment? Let them go, soft and loose. Easy does it.

IF ANY OF you young mothers have found ways of coping with fatigue that have helped you gain needed pounds and recoup

Water Service Restored After Wellsville Shutoff

Workers were completing repairs to a fire hydrant at 12th and Commerce Sts., Wellsville, after the water service was shut off for the entire city last night while

Wellsville Garbage Truck Is Deadlined

The chain on the packer section of Wellsville's garbage truck broke this morning, putting the vehicle out of service, according to Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare.

One of the men immediately left for Pittsburgh to obtain the necessary part. It will be installed when he returns and the truck possibly might be put back into service late this afternoon or Thursday morning. The crew will be behind in collections for at least a day.

a valve was installed on the line. Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare announced yesterday the water would be turned off while the work was underway.

He said this morning the men started turning off the water supply at 9:05 p. m. Some homes still had water at 9:50 as Wellsville is fed by a gravity system and water remained in some lines even after the main from the reservoir was turned off.

The homes in the vicinity of the repair work never were without water, he commented.

The top valve was installed at 10:45 and the men started immediately to restore pressure. By 11:10, the pressure was on again. "The men did an extremely fine job," Baldasare commented.

The hydrant was cracked at the bottom and there was no valve to turn off either the hydrant or the lines in the area.

Another line was found broken on 5th St. between Washington and Lisbon Sts. yesterday. Originally, the men planned to make repairs at the same time as the valve was being installed.

After the excavation was made yesterday, the crew went ahead and installed a repair sleeve on the 4-inch main under pressure. Baldasare said. He has been working the lines under pressure where possible to avoid loss of service to homes.

Work on the hydrant will continue today and it will be moved to a different location.

Officials of the Sterling China Co. have agreed to allow the city to move it back from the edge of the street onto the lawn in front of the firm's office. This will keep the hydrant from being bumped so often by vehicles, Baldasare said.

A small section of hedge will have to be removed but the officials said they would sacrifice the hedge for fire protection, he commented.

Wellsville has had six breaks in mains in the past six weeks.

Adding to the city's troubles, a sanitary sewer line at 20th and Buckeye Ave. has collapsed.

The tile sewer caved in about two weeks ago but never clogged, Baldasare said.

He said the crew was sent out today to make repairs. "It was just a matter of getting to it after all the other troubles we have had," he said. The line is about four feet deep. A new section will be installed after the excavation is made.

Ohio Husband Held For Wounding Wife

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Pauline Hackney, 34, who lives in Pickaway County southeast of Mount Sterling is in Fayette County Memorial Hospital in Washington Court House suffering from an abdominal bullet wound. Pickaway County deputy sheriffs said they are holding the woman's husband, Andy Joe Hackney, 33, who is unemployed, for investigation in the county jail here.

The woman was reported to have been shot in an argument over a pistol, deputies reported, and the gun discharging during a scuffle. The couple has five children ranging in ages from 3 to 11.

Commerce Chief Aids Menswear Industry Move

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Luther B. Hodges Tuesday night helped the menswear industry celebrate completion of an historic migration — from downtown lofts to a plush new midtown office building.

Hodges was the principal speaker at a dinner in the Americana Hotel honoring Elmer L. Ward, president of the Palm Beach Co. of Cincinnati, who headed the drive to relocate the industry in its new "fashion center." Ward was honored by the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear.

The center is in the new Sperry Rand Building where 10 floors have been assigned to the firms in the men's and boy's wear industry and allied fields.

The first of more than 110 firms have moved into the new skyscraper and the industrywide move is expected to be completed by the end of this spring.

Ohio 5-Day Forecast

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average near normal, normal high 45, normal low 26-30. Colder Thursday, warming trend beginning Friday, then turning colder again Sunday or Monday. Precipitation will average one-half to three-quarters of an inch in snow tonight and rain or snow over the weekend.

Kiwanians Told Wellsville's Schools 'Best Financially'

The Wellsville school system is "the best run, financially speaking, of any in the county," Columbiana County Auditor Kenneth Bell remarked in a talk before the Wellsville Kiwanis Club Tuesday noon at Platt's Tea Room.

He said Wellsville's residents get better service for their tax dollar than other communities and then singled out the school system as an example.

Bell reviewed the entire tax situation in the county, along with the reappraisal and the distribution of money locally.

He said Wellsville's tax valuation this year is $10,470,000. This is 50 per cent real estate tax, 30 per cent personal property tax and 20 per cent public utilities.

He said $71,000 additional will be collected out of Wellsville this year over last, primarily the result of new levies. These include $52,000 for schools, $7,000 for the county home and $2,000 for the retarded children.

The new evaluation will provide an additional $10,000. He pointed out the school district will receive $300,207 from the county. This is less than 50 per cent of what the district will spend this year with the remainder coming from the state.

The city's share will be $63,950. Bell explained the method used in the reappraisal. Twenty - two attended.

Cedric Stanway, president, presided. It was announced a public pancake and sausage supper will be held April 3 at the Riverside United Presbyterian Church.

Philanthropist Dies

Toronto Man Faces Theft Charge Hearing

A Toronto man is to be arraigned Thursday at 2 p. m. before Judge James MacDonald at Lisbon on a charge of theft.

Clayton Hitchcock is accused of stealing tools valued at $150 from the car of a Lisbon man late last year while it was parked in Wellsville.

Chief John Hephner said the tools were recovered in Stratton the following day. Hitchcock allegedly had sold them to a man who identified the suspect but he could not be found.

Hitchcock was picked up Monday night by Toronto police and turned over to Wellsville authorities. Hephner took Hitchcock to the Columbiana County Jail at Lisbon Tuesday.

Lisbon Board Drops School Track Squad

LISBON — In one of several economy moves adopted Tuesday night, the Village Board of Education agreed to eliminate the high school track squad as a way of saving an estimated $1,000.

The school board, mapping an "austerity" program, said the track squad was dropped "because of the costs." Forty-seven boys had been enrolled on the squad for the season, including four freshmen, 20 sophomores, 16 juniors and seven seniors.

The board discussed its 1963 appropriation, but took no final action. It slated a special meeting for March 26 to renew the discussion of finances, continue mapping its austerity program and act on hiring of instructors for next year.

The board has filed two fiscal proposals for a vote at the May 7 primaries. They are a renewal of a 16-mill levy and a new 3-mill levy, both for current expenses. They would be in effect five years.

The board voted to hold up delivery of three new electric typewriters ordered at its last session, also citing lack of finances. It ordered a study of the need for custodial materials and school supplies before orders are placed.

The board decided that Earl McClintock, 70, head custodian, will be removed from his position but will be allowed to remain on the custodial staff, provided he furnishes a doctor's certificate. The board pointed out its policy is that persons of 70 should retire.

Mrs. Florence Babb, 65, cook at the Lincoln School cafeteria, will resign at the end of the current term, the board said.

After discussing the 1963 appropriation, the board took no official action.

It said the contracts of three teachers will not be renewed for next term. They are: Erskine T. Richmond, fifth grade teacher; Mrs. Janet Baker, seventh and eighth grades; and Mrs. Pearl Camp, commercial instructor.

Supt. Oliver H. Payne reported he has been interviewing prospective teachers who will be graduated from Kent State University, Otterbein College and Westminster College. He said he also hopes to interview prospects from Youngstown University and Mt. Union College.

The board agreed to permit the use of McKinley School for a Bible School June 10-21. The Senior Class will be permitted to hold a dinner on "Senior Day," provided it is at a restaurant within a 10-mile radius and all seniors make the trip on school buses, the board agreed.

The summer maintenance program was discussed. The board said as much work as possible will be scheduled without hiring extra help.

The new electrical and metal shop is being set up and the superintendent, teachers and board members will visit the Salem Trade School and attend the display of the industrial arts convention at Columbus March 22-23 so as to set up this program for next term.

The Senior Class will be asked to conduct its own commencement program this year and not have an outside speaker.

Curriculum changes for the coming term were discussed. They will depend on what changes can be made, along with what special classes can be given within the budget, and if teachers are available.

Teachers needed so far for the next term are English-math, shop-math, Junior High social studies and sixth and fourth grades.

The school calendar for 1963-64 was approved, providing 185 days of school beginning Sept. 4. Other dates are Oct. 25, North Central Ohio Teachers Association meeting; Nov. 28-29 Thanksgiving recess; Dec. 20, last day before Christmas vacation.

Jan. 6, school reconvenes; Feb. 21, four-school workshop; March 25, last day before spring vacation; March 31, school reconvenes; May 31, baccalaureate; June 4, last day of school and commencement; and June 5, record day for teachers.

The payroll of $36,735.76 and bills for $5,125.96 of supplies for past month were ordered paid.

Edwin L. Kauffman, vice president, presided in absence of Dr. Wade Bacon, president. Next regular meeting is April 9 at 7:30 p. m.

Gas Station Worker Suffers Burns In Fire

A city service station employee, burned by gasoline, and a youth injured in a gym class were treated at City Hospital Tuesday.

Alvie McLaughlin, 32, of 108 W. Drury Ln. suffered first and second degree burns of the face and burns of a hand while at work at the Humble Service Station at 3rd St. and Broadway.

McLaughlin was apparently at work on the motor of a car with the fuel line disconnected when gasoline ignited.

Milk Production Declines Again, Cuts Props Cost

WASHINGTON (AP) — To the satisfaction of dairy groups opposing any change in the government milk support program, production of milk declined in February for the third consecutive month below a year earlier.

This reduction will, of course, tend to reduce the cost of the dairy support program. Under this program, the government buys the surplus output in the form of butter, cheese and dry milk.

President Kennedy recommended in a special farm message earlier in the year that Congress enact a new program which would possibly reduce support levels and pay farmers for reducing production. But some dairymen oppose this proposal. They say that given a little time, the dairy surplus problem will dwindle and finally disappear.

Production in the first two months of this year was down 1.3 per cent from the like period last year. February production was below a year earlier in five of the 10 leading states — Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa. But it continued above a year ago in the other five — New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Michigan and California.

Sargus, Wetzel Introduce Bills In Ohio Assembly

COLUMBUS — Bills dealing with workmen's compensation and highway warning devices were introduced in the General Assembly Tuesday afternoon by East Liverpool area legislators.

Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, D-St. Clairsville, co-sponsored a bill aimed at revising workmen's compensation benefit schedules. It would set maximum weekly disability benefits at 50 per cent of the worker's average weekly wage. The maximum weekly rate now is $49.

Sargus said the average would be determined by the administrator of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation from earnings during the preceding calendar year ending Sept. 1.

"This bill would keep payments in gear with the times," said Sargus.

In the House, Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel, R-Columbiana, co-sponsored a bill to permit use of red reflectors as warning devices by transports disabled on Ohio highways.

The sponsors said Ohio is one of few states which hasn't authorized reflectors as warning signals for highway breakdowns. The law now requires commercial carriers to be equipped with three red electric lanterns or three flares. The reflectors would have to conform to standards prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, the sponsors said.

Surprise Alerts Set For St. Clair CD Unit

Plans for surprise alerts were outlined at a meeting of the St. Clair Township Civil Defense group Tuesday night at the Glenmoor fire station.

A membership drive also was discussed. Twenty-one attended. Herman Henney, director, presided.

Many Of His Athletes In Coaching

Newell's Robison Can Look Back On '52 Team, Many Great Seasons

By BOB DUFFY

Review Sports Editor

In the coach's room in the basement of Wells High School are many pictures of former Newell basketball, football and baseball teams.

Usually sitting at his desk before a game or practice session, surrounded by the photos, is John Robison, whose name has been synonymous with athletic teams at Newell for the last 20 years.

"ROBBIE" is known primarily as a basketball coach, but at one time he coached all sports at Newell.

Wells High will become part of a consolidation next year, closing the books on Robison's tenure at Newell. There is a possibility, however, that he will be in line for the head coaching job at the new North Hancock High School which is expected to open later this year.

GLANCING back over the 20 years of coaching, Robison can point to his state championship team of 1952 and a host of winning seasons, but he seems to receive more personal pride by mentioning the players who performed under him who are in coaching today.

One of them is Pete Horosko, who has been Robison's assistant basketball coach for almost a decade and head football coach since 1954.

Others who Robison named are Jack McDevitt, head basketball coach at Wellsville; Ken Babb, basketball coach at Fairport Harbor; Len Mosser, formerly of Jefferson Union and now head cage coach at Roanoke, Va., and Norm Six and Larry Foltz, assistant coaches at East Liverpool.

ROBISON also mentioned Don Fowler, who starred for Newell a few years back and went on to play regular for Davis & Elkins. "I believe he is teaching now and will go into coaching."

Robbie waited until his final season at Newell to see his team compile the best won-and-lost record during a regular season. This year's team had a 17-3 mark, winning one more game than the great 1951-52 team which had a season record of 16-3, but went on to capture the state championship with six more victories for an overall 22-3 slate.

Among the pictures on the wall in the coaches room is the 1951-52 squad. Robison read off the starting lineup that year. It included Ron Laneve, John Laneve, Frank Mangano, Jim McDevitt and Six.

THIS TEAM marched along the tournament trail, then won the state Class B crown with a 53-39 victory over Gasaway. In that game, Ron Laneve scored 21 points and was named to the all-state squad.

Ron later went on to play for West Virginia, but a knee injury kept him from becoming a regular for the Mountaineers. He also played shortstop on the WVU baseball team.

In his junior year, Robison sat on the bench and watched Laneve set a Newell High scoring record when he wound up with 64 points in an 88-28 victory over New Cumberland at the Wells High gym. Ron is now a physical therapist.

JOHN LANEVE, who is now an optician in Virginia, played varsity basketball for Pitt. Although he wasn't a regular, he played an important part in one of Pitt's NCAA victories over Morehead State by sinking the winning basket.

Robison recalls the year before the title came to Newell his squad reached the state semifinals, but lost to Fairview, a team that went on to win the crown.

During the 20 years, Newell has won the state title once, seven section titles, two region crowns and one area title. The Vikings also have been runnerup to the region title three times.

ROBISON, who was born in Oklahoma and says "I'm not sure what town, but it was in Creek County," came to Newell in 1937 where he taught and served as an assistant coach under Tom Pierce.

Pierce went into the Navy in 1942 and Robison took over as head basketball coach in the middle of the 1942-43 season and has been at the helm ever since.

Robison's actual playing experience consisted of high school basketball at Fairview, where his family moved when he was eight years old. After high school he went to Fairmont State and played reserve basketball his junior season, but in his senior year broke his arm in a practice game and that ended his playing career in college.

AFTER graduating from Fairmont, Robison went to Columbia University and received his master's degree in mathematics. He calls the team he had his first full season (1943-44) as one of the outstanding clubs he coached at Newell. The team won 12 and lost 5 and was beaten in its first tourney start in an overtime battle with Weirton.

The starters on that squad included Bob McDevitt, Red Miller, Sam Laneve, Charlie Parsons and Horosko.

Over the span, Robison's teams have compiled 14 winning seasons, with only six losing ones. The over-all record in regular season play shows 212 victories against 173 defeats.

ONE SEASON which Robison and Newell would like to forget came in the 1958-59 campaign when the Vikings lost 19 straight games and failed to win one.

The following season was 6-13, but Robbie brought Newell back to a winning combination with 13-7 records the next two years, then the 17-3 this past season.

In football, his team's were at their best from 1946 to 1949 with three straight winning campaigns.

BASEBALL-wise the Newell mentor points directly to the 1948 season when Newell compiled a 15-1 record and was runnerup to the state title. Stan Franczek, who went on to play professional baseball, led Robbie's nine to the playoff game that year.

Stan, who pitched and played the infield, was named to the all-state team for his showing in 1948. He also starred on Robison's football and basketball teams of that era.

Sonny Stephens, a catcher, and Del Jividen, a first baseman, also received several offers from professional scouts, with Stephens signing with the Indians. He played only one season of Minor League baseball.

JOHN ROBISON, who winds up a 20-year coaching career at Newell High School, reminisces for a moment as he points to one of the many teams he has coached in his long tenure at the Hancock County school. For almost 10 years, Robison coached all-sports at Newell including football, basketball and baseball.

UCLA Last Entrant In NCAA Field

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ

Associated Press Sports Writer

The UCLA Bruins, almost counted out of the Big Six Conference race two weeks ago, have become the final entrant in the 16-team NCAA Regional Basketball Tournament field.

UCLA eliminated the Stanford Indians 51-45 in a playoff to determine the Big Six representative at Santa Monica, Calif., Tuesday night. The victory qualified the Bruins for a berth in the Far West regional semifinals at Provo, Utah Friday night.

The Uclans, in gaining their second straight league crown, will meet Arizona State University in the Far West bracket.

A week ago Stanford led UCLA by two games with two games to play. But the Bruins lost to the Bruins Friday and to Southern California Saturday. UCLA tied for first place by beating California Saturday.

NCAA regional semifinals at four sites will be held Friday night with the regional finals Saturday evening. The four survivors then advanced to the national semifinals and championship game at Louisville, Ky., March 22-23.

Eight of the nation's top ten teams in the final Associated Press poll have qualified for the regional semifinals. Top-ranked Cincinnati will be seeking an unprecedented third straight championship.

Other members of the Top Ten competing are Duke, No. 2; Chicago Loyola, No. 3; Arizona State, No. 4; Mississippi State, No. 6; Illinois, No. 8; New York University, No. 9; and Colorado, No. 10.

The NAIA Tournament at Kansas City completed its second day of opening round games Tuesday and trimmed the field to 16 teams. Among the highlights, second-seeded Augsburg, Minn., turned back West Virginia State 67-57 and seventh-seeded Western Illinois was upset by Miles, Ala., 84-81.

Eight games are scheduled for the second round today and tonight.

The quarter-finals of the NCAA college division tournament take place today and tonight at Evansville, Ind., with four ranked teams in the AP's final small college Top Ten in the field, headed by top-ranked Wittenberg, Ohio.

The 26th annual National Invitation Tournament with 12 entrants gets under way Thursday night in Madison Square Garden with a first-round doubleheader. In the opener, Villanova, 19-8, meets DePaul, 15-7, while Fordham, 18-7, opposes Memphis State, 18-6, in the second game.

Clay Rates Heavy Edge Over Jones

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Cassius Clay takes the big step tonight on the road to a million dollars.

If cocky Cassius displays the punch to match his mouth against also would give him the opportunity to achieve his ambition of becoming the youngest heavyweight champion of all time.

Patterson holds that distinction now. He did it when he was 21 years, 10 months and 26 days old. Clay, born on Jan. 17, 1942, has until Dec. 12 of this year to break the mark.

"I'm gonna stop that Jones and then I'm going to whip that gorilla Liston and be the greatest champion of them all," proclaimed Cassius.

Clay, handsome, strong and fast and still growing, stands 6-foot-3 and weighs about 205 pounds. He won the Olympic light heavyweight (178 pounds) title in 1960 and has won all 17 of his pro fights, 14 by knockouts.

He already ranks as the No. 2 contender behind ex-champion Patterson although his victims mostly include rookies and washed up veterans like Archie Moore, Willie Besmanoff and Alex Miteff.

Jones, a pro since August, 1958, has a 21-3-1 won-lost-record including 13 knockouts. He is ranked third by Ring and fifth by the WBA.

ELHS Banquet Tickets On Sale At Reese's

Tickets for the East Liverpool High School basketball banquet are on sale at Reese's Jewelers at $2.25 each. A ham or fish dinner will be served at the banquet Friday, March 22 at Westgate School. Dr. Arthur Turner will be master of ceremonies and Bill Webber is ticket chairman. The banquet is being sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and the ELHS Athletic Association.

Doug Jones at Madison Square Garden, he could be well on the way to millionaire status before his 22nd birthday.

The 21-year-old, all-conquering heavyweight contender from Louisville is rated the favorite at odds ranging from 13-5 to 3-1 to whip the 26-year-old New York contender before a standing room only crowd of 18,732.

Starting time is 10 p.m. EST for the 10-rounder which will be telecast to 40 locations in 38 cities. New York will be blacked out of the closed circuit telecast.

For tonight's fight with Jones, Clay will earn about $100,000 and Jones $75,000. If he stops Jones in four, as he has predicted, or beats him decisively, he will be close to a title fight in September with heavyweight king Sonny Liston — providing Liston gets by Floyd Patterson again.

Jones never has been stopped. A fight with Liston—"that big, ugly bear" as Clay calls him — could earn Cassius his million. It

Xavier Hires Cage Mentor

CINCINNATI (AP)—Donald J.

Ruberg, a former Xavier basketball star, is the new coach of the Musketeers as a result of Jim McCafferty's resignation.

McCafferty resigned Tuesday after six seasons of coaching during which his teams had a 91-71 record and won two national tournaments — the 1959 National Invitation and the 1963 National Catholic Tournament last weekend.

The Very Rev. Paul L. O'Connor, S.J., president of Xavier, said McCafferty would continue as the school's athletic director. Ruberg, who had served as assistant coach for seven years, was named head coach.

Ruberg, 33, graduated from Xavier in 1951 and was basketball, baseball and assistant football coach at Cincinnati Elder High School until going to work for his alma mater in 1956. He was baseball Coach of the Year in Ohio in 1955 and 1956.

Colts' Owner Is Accused Of Bet Against Own Team

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Carroll D. Rosenbloom, owner of the Baltimore Colts, has been accused in federal court of betting $55,000 against his own team in a 1953 National Football League game.

Rosenbloom's own lawyer put the accusation on the record Tuesday in an attempt to have ex-gambler Mike McLaney, of Miami Beach, who made the deposition three years ago, cited for criminal contempt. He said the charge was a vicious and outrageous lie.

But Judge George C. Young threw out the contempt motion, emphasizing that he was not ruling on the truth or falsity of the accusation.

Also made public Tuesday were three affidavits in which McLaney's associates swore that Rosenbloom was a big bettor.

National Football League regulations forbid betting by players or owners.

Robert J. McGravey, once a Philadelphia detective, declared that he was Rosenbloom's personal assistant from 1951 to 1954 and that he had often placed bets for him.

Richard Melvin, an investor, said in his affidavit, "I distinctly remember that during one professional season he made nine straight winning bets on professional football games."

Larry E. Murphy, onetime McLaney chauffeur, swore, "I particularly remember that in 1953 when his team was playing against the 49ers on the coast, Rosenbloom bet a large amount of money against his own team, and because of the point spread, won the bet."

The affidavits, made in connection with a stock deal suit in 1960, were sealed and the suit was dismissed by Federal Judge Joseph Lieb Jan. 5, 1961.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

The New Waterford Fish and Game Club will be hosts to the annual fish and game hearings for Columbiana County at their clubhouse on Friday, March 29, at 7:30 p. m. The public is invited.

I have been told that many farmers and sportsmen thought that they would have to take out a $10 state permit in order to raise and release pheasants.

A permit to raise and release pheasants is free. All you have to do is to contact your game protector, legally acquire your brood stock and go into the business of raising and releasing. This would be a good sportsman club activity.

If you intend to raise and sell pheasants, then a $10 commercial permit is necessary. If you keep more than two pheasants in an enclosure for pets, then you first must obtain a $2 permit. In that case you can increase the number all you want. But you can't sell them on a $2 permit.

PERMITS also are free to keep more than two game birds or game animals. These permits also have to be renewed each year by March 15. If you have any questions, contact the game protector in your county.

I have a record of every legally acquired bird or animal in Columbiana County and these permits must be renewed by March 15.

If you expect to stay within the law, then it is your responsibility to see that the rules and regulations permitting you to have these birds or animals are followed.

I read with interest a story that appeared under the heading "Strip Mine Study Asked by Lausche".

It goes on to say "it (strip mining) has left grotesque scars and destroyed all other use of the land". Towards the end of the article he states, "There remain throughout the country thousands upon thousands of acres of pre-law spoil banks."

As far as my eyes can detect, we are in the "pre-law" days as of today. We have approximately 15,000 acres of spoil banks and canyons in Columbiana County alone, left by the strippers, and more lands are being laid waste daily.

MAYBE someone is toying with the thought that these waste lands should be refilled. On the surface that sounds good.

I feel, however, that I don't want one cent of my tax money being used to refill lands under private ownership. It seems to me it would be a grand thing if the state or federal form of government bought up all this waste land at the price it remains on the tax duplicate, then filled it in and used it to provide additional recreation areas for all the people. The tax money then would be well spent. Even after a farm has been stripped and refilled it is worthless to grow a profitable farm crop like hay, wheat, potatoes, etc.

Better let your state and federal representatives know how you feel about it before any legal action is taken.

Knocked Into River, Boy Feared Drowned

LODI, Ohio (AP) — Nine-year-old John Ridgeway was knocked into the Black River and was believed drowned after an ice jam broke loose near here.

Medine County Sheriff Steve Helli said the boy and two companions were near the bank of the river watching the ice flow pass Tuesday when the jam broke loose above the Ohio 76 bridge.

Ricky Parker, 12, told deputies the boys scrambled to get out of the way, but he saw a chunk of ice catch John and knock him into the river.

Searchers were unable to find the body Tuesday night. The search was to resume today.

John was the son of Eugene and Viola Ridgeway.

Big John Stuffs In 33, Norwin Gains WPIAL

PITTSBURGH — Big John Naponick, who set a new WPIAL Class A tournament scoring record, swished in 33 points here Tuesday night to lead Norwin to the WPIAL championship with a 69-64 victory over Aliquippa.

A sellout crowd of 10,718 fans packed the Civic Arena while several thousand others milled around outside.

Norwin grabbed an 18-14 first quarter lead then went on top 34-29 at halftime and 50-44 after three periods.

Bob Pipkin led a gallant Aliquippa effort with 27 points.

Norwin now faces Johnstown Saturday night at Johnstown in a PIAA Western Regional contest.

The 33 points last night gives Naponick 126 for four games and the WPIAL record.

Cleveland Badly Needs Outfielder Who Swings Right

BY CHUCK SUCH
Special Staff Correspondent

TUCSON — The Cleveland Indians dig into the spring exhibition season with a number of apparent handicaps at this stage. They are in dire need of a right-handed hitting outfielder and they could use some help at the plate in the person of a long-ball hitter.

Cleveland's outfield at the moment appears to be an entire left-handed hitting array. Tito Francona, Vic Davalillo, Willie Kirkland, Walter Bond and Al Luplow all swing from the left side of the plate.

THUS FAR, the Indians have shown very little sign of power. However, it is generally known that Gabe Paul, owner - general manager of the Indians, is trying to make some trades.

Willie Tasby has been offered to the Chicago White Sox but they turned him down.

The Indians are overladen with outfielders and pitchers. There are numbers but quality is another question.

The Indians would be willing to trade numbers for quality. Three rookies have been ballyhooed this spring — outfielder Vic Davalillo, shortstop Tony Martinez and third baseman Max Alvis. All three are question marks in one way or another.

MARTINEZ appears capable defensively but is an unknown at the plate. Davalillo has a fine record at bat but it remains to be seen what he can do against major league pitching. At best, he is a leadoff batter who can poke singles and doubles.

Alvis has been working out with the second unit which leads one to believe that Woodie Held will be at third base on opening day.

Held is a fine infielder and equally as fine a center fielder. But his shortcomings at the plate are no secret. Yet he remains the most valuable player on the squad at this time. He could be at any of three positions where the rookies fail.

MEANWHILE, Manager Birdie Tebbetts is trying to erase a nasty rumor around the league that Cleveland pitchers give away their pitches.

Tebbetts has a fast rule that the baseball must remain in the pitchers' glove until the very moment he is about to fire it at the plate.

This has altered many a pitching style.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant is pitching without a windup this spring.

TEBBETTS says he wants that ball concealed in the glove at all times," Grant said. "I used to fiddle with the ball in my bare hand while I was waiting for the signal from the catcher. I used to wind up over my head. I just can't do that now and feel comfortable."

"So I'm just moving my glove over to my right side and throwing without a windup," Grant said.

Tribe Rookies Have Bad Start In First Contest

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Max Alvis, Tony Martinez and Vic Davalillo—three rookies the Indians are hoping will make the grade this year—were in the lineup together for the first time when Cleveland met the Los Angeles Angels in an exhibition game Tuesday.

The results were less than spectacular as the Angels won 6-1.

Alvis had his worst day of the young exhibition season, making three errors. Martinez committed an error that let in a run. Davalillo threw twice to the wrong base.

Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts was not dismayed. Speaking of Alvis, Tebbetts declared: "I'm not worried about his fielding. I like the way this kid digs in."

Alvis continued to look good at bat, getting two of the Indians' four hits.

The three rookies had been slated to start the first exhibition game, but Martinez and Davalillo were sidelined by illness.

The Tribe's only run came in the first inning when Woodie Held tripled and scored on a double by Martinez. Then the Angel's Don Lee settled down and held the Indians hitless for the rest of his four-inning stint.

Dave Tyriver started for the Indians and was followed in the fourth by Enrique Gazmuri, the 17-year-old Cuban who fled his homeland in a rowboat. Gazmuri, a southpaw, was effective but gave up one unearned run in the sixth.

Jerry Walker, acquired from Kansas City in a trade for Chuck Essegian, pitched the last three innings and was tagged for two runs in the ninth.

Dick Donovan and Gordon Seyfried were slated to work today.

Nominations Set By Booster Club At Beaver Local

A slate of officers headed by George Dunn of Lisbon R. D. 3 was filed at a meeting of the Beaver Local Boosters Club Tuesday night at the high school.

Election of officers and trustees will be held April 9. The nominating committee report was filed by Gail Williams.

Discussion was held on the sixth annual smorgasbord to be sponsored April 20 and the all sports banquet to be held April 30.

Lee Myers will be in charge of publicity and posters for the smorgasbord.

The club will provide meat, rolls, and coffee and milk for the coverdish sports banquet.

Myers, membership drive chairman, said there are 436 enrolled at present.

Steve Barborak, president, spoke on the schedule for preparing the basketball and football programs next year. Bills totaling $654 were paid.

Dunn gave prayer. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ruth Green.

Cites 3 Policy Areas

Kennedy Issues Warning Of 'Economic Disaster'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said today the economy will face "downturn and disaster" if Congress rejects proposed tax cuts, slashes the budget and puts a tight lid on the national debt.

In a significant attempt to broaden current debate over economic policy, Kennedy argued that tax cuts alone cannot insure the success of his ideas for juicing up the economy. He said it also is important to avoid "an unrealistic debt ceiling or budget cut."

Wrong decisions in these three policy areas would, he said, "spell downturn and disaster for the American economy as a whole."

In remarks prepared for the annual Washington conference of the Advertising Council, Kennedy said wrong decisions on all three points were made in 1957-1960 by "a Republican administration and a Democratic Congress."

As a result, he contended, the nation has been paying a high price ever since by slogging along with a below-par economy.

"I am hopeful," Kennedy said, "that the lessons of history will be remembered by us all—by those of us in the administration and the Congress, and those in this audience who are leaders of opinion in the business community."

The scope of Kennedy's argument, in what originally was expected to be a brief and rather routine appearance, seemed a measure of presidential concern over congressional criticism of the administration's record $98.8 billion budget and the request for a continuation of the record temporary debt ceiling of $308 billion. The White House is expected to ask a higher debt ceiling later.

By linking both these items with the attention-getting tax cut issue, the President seemed bent on seeking broader support for a more boldly stated plan of attack on the ills of the economy.

In essence, this was the argument, described as non-partisan, which Kennedy put forward:

—The faults of the last five years were attributed, in the President's words, to a bipartisan decision "in 1957 to keep the debt limit unrealistically low, to cut back and stretch out our budget expenditures, to tighten monetary policy and to reject all efforts at tax reduction." Kennedy contended the situation was aggravated in 1960 by further moves toward "tight money."

—"The harsh results" were described as a slowdown in contracts, a delay in federal payments to business, two costly recessions and bigger-than-ever budget deficits.

To emphasize his argument, Kennedy offered this before-and-after picture of the economy:

—In the decade prior to July 1957, the unemployment rate rarely exceeded 4 per cent. In the 64 months since then, it has remained above 5 per cent and now is 6.1 per cent.

—In the pre-1957 decade, business each year spent for expansion and modernization an amount nearly equal to 11 per cent of the value of total output. "It has since that time fallen steadily to roughly 9 per cent today," Kennedy said.

—In the 1947-1957 period, the economy had a growth rate of nearly 4 per cent a year, after making allowances for inflation. "Since mid-1957," he said, "the rate of increase has been limited to 3 per cent."

Kennedy said the decisions of 1957-1960 "were taken in the name of fiscal responsibility." He said the name was "taken in vain" because the position of the federal budget and the economy deteriorated while the nation's international financial position suffered a major setback reflected in a gold loss of more than $5 billion.

Kennedy said "this administration is not asking for an unlimited budget ceiling" but, rather, one which envisions the debt becoming steadily less burdensome in relation to the size of the economy.

Finally, he said, "we are not asking for an unprecedented tax cut but for a program which will add only $2.7 billion to the next budget deficit" — estimated at $11.9 billion with the first stage of a three-year tax cut included.

"Certainly it is clear," Kennedy added, "that if we slide into another recession, the deficit without a tax cut will be far larger."

One May Have Caused Epidemic 2 New Strains Of Flu Virus Are Discovered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Discovery of two new strains of influenza virus—with all indications that one of them was largely responsible for this winter's widespread flu epidemics—was disclosed today.

The new strains were identified too late for this season's vaccine to include extra guards against them, it was learned.

One is a new and potent form of the Asian flu virus which first appeared in 1957. This new strain is the one held mainly responsible for this year's outbreak of flu—with the available vaccine having only limited power against it, Public Health Service doctors told a reporter.

Studies have indicated that in animals, the present vaccine affords no protection at all against the new virus, they said. Preliminary evidence from human studies is that this winter the vaccine showed "appreciably less" than its usual 75 per cent efficiency—presumably because of the new virus.

Influenza cases have been unusually severe this winter, often lasting up to two weeks instead of the usual three or four days. School absenteeism has ranged up to 73 per cent of pupils in some schools. Death rates from pneumonia, complicated by flu, have been unusually high among the elderly in some communities.

The other newcomer to the elusive brigade of viruses is a new strain of type B influenza virus. Type B and type A are the two major types of flu virus. Each has several sub-strains.

So far, the new B-type strain appears to have been confined to a single schoolhouse in Formosa where it was first detected last November.

Scientists of the National Institutes of Health say it has the potential for spreading through the world next winter.

An example of this swift spreading is the new strain of Asian flu virus which NIH researchers said first appeared in Tokyo in January 1962.

It wasn't until last June, when samples of the virus were obtained from abroad by NIH's Division of Biologic Standards, that first strong evidence was obtained that this was a new strain of Asian flu. It wasn't confirmed until November.

It was too late to include the new virus in the vaccine to be used in preparation for the winter of 1962-1963.

Millions of doses of vaccine had already been manufactured and distributed. It would have taken up to six months to tool up for inclusion of the new strain.

Also, scientists still couldn't be sure the new strain would hit the United States, although there was evidence it had cropped up in Formosa and New Zealand as well as Japan.

Meanwhile, an experimental vaccine employing the new virus was developed at NIH. In tests on human volunteers, including more than 100 federal prisoners, the vaccine gave indications of protective value.

How did the new strains of virus develop?

No one really knows.

One concept is that such mutations may result partly from a natural adaptation of the virus to some threat to its existence, such as vaccine.

Nature's own radiations — including cosmic rays—may be another factor, scientists say. Radiation from nuclear tests is still another possibility. "although, at present, there is no way to prove this—or disprove it."

Brooks Robinson Sr. scouts for the Houston Colts. His son plays third base for the Baltimore Orioles.

Posse Captures Jail Escapee In Closed Tavern

PUT-IN-BAY, Ohio (AP)—Daniel Denny, 38, who knocked out a custodian in escaping from jail here Monday, was captured early today by a posse of 50 islanders and this Bass Island's community's one-man police force.

Denny was found hiding in the Castle Inn, a tavern closed for the winter, which is located a mile and a half from the jail. Denny was unarmed and did not resist arrest.

He will be flown the Seven Miles to Port Clinton, where he was to have been taken to face breaking and entering charges shortly before he broke jail.

Denny was arrested early Monday by Patrolman Wayne Neil, who said Denny used a pass key to get into a carryout store.

Charles Traverso, 65, a custodian at city hall who also cares for prisoners sometimes, said he let Denny out of his cell to go to the washroom and Denny knocked him out with his fist.

Wellsville Man Injured In Crash

A Wellsville driver was hurt in a "chain" type traffic accident Tuesday afternoon at 4:45 in Steubenville, police in the Jefferson County seat reported today.

Clyde I. Archer, 28, of 522 Main St., received a possible back injury and was examined at the Ohio Valley Hospital.

Also hurt were Wiley E. Cline, 74, of Amsterdam R. D. 1, possible neck sprain, and his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Cline, 70, sprained right shoulder.

Police said a car driven by Mary Inez LaPenna of Steubenville failed to stop in a line of traffic and struck the rear of Cline's car. The impact forced the Cline car into the rear of a foreign model car driven by Archer, and Archer's car into the rear of the car of Mrs. Drusilla R. Goll, 48, of Steubenville.

Mrs. LaPenna was cited on a charge of failure to halt in the assured clear distance.

Paul Miller, president of The Associated Press and head of the Gannett group of newspapers, made the announcement Tuesday. He said Glenn would discuss the space program of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the meaning of the program to the future of the United States.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Please pass this time saving and helping hint along to young mothers:

To "would-be telephoners": From 12 to 3 p.m. is a time when children are usually taking naps, and when busy mothers try to catch up on back work, read or take a rest.

How many times have you been interrupted by a friend who phones to pass the time of day or talking about her problems with the children? Most girls look forward to this time in the afternoon alone and don't wish to spend the afternoon on the telephone.

So, please be a friend and sign yourself up for the "Twelve-to-Three Club," and make phone calls at other times of the day. Your friends will love you for it.

MOTHER OF THREE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a tip for making delicious gelatin desserts:

Use half water and half soda pop of the same flavor as the dessert you are using. Dissolve the gelatin in the hot water then add the soda pop, quickly put your dessert in the refrigerator and it becomes quite "yummy." Try it.

BEN MARCUS.

Wow!!! is this ever good!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a thoughtful thing to do for elderly friends who can still sew a little, but whose eyesight isn't quite up to threading needles easily:

Thread several needles at a time on a spool that is used often. When a length of thread is drawn from the spool with the first needle, and the thread cut off, the remaining needles can simply be pushed back along the thread until needed.

MRS. P. E.

DEAR HELOISE: For the small tubes of ointment, etc., which clutter up a medicine cabinet so easily, I use a small glass dish such as is used for leftovers in the refrigerator. The dish takes up less space and the cabinet looks better organized.

FAITHFUL READER.

DEAR HELOISE: When lengthening little girls' dresses I use rick rack braid or a lace insertion along the original hem line, stitching on each edge to strengthen the original fold and also to hide it. It looks pretty, too.

GILBERTA BROWN.

Draw String Trial

DEAR HELOISE: Every time I buy a toilet seat cover... it seems as if the piece of twine which ties it on, either gets broken or gets lost in the hem. What can we do with the covers, besides discarding them?

MARY

DEAR MARY: You can go to a dime store and buy an extra long shoe lace. Cut the tip of the shoe lace off on one end and stick a safety pin through it.

Fasten the pin to the lace and use it as a threader to run back through the little hem itself. This will have to be done about two inches at a time depending on the size of your safety pin.

However, here's what I did to mine: Instead of using bias tape or shoe laces... I used narrow elastic! After running the elastic through the hem I just tie a knot in it and presto, I don't have any more strings to hang, knots to tie or broken threads. Also the elastic helps hold the cover in place.

HELOISE.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY:

DEAR HELOISE: My motto is "if some praise is due him," now is the time to slip it to him, for he cannot read his tombstone when he is dead.

JEAN HORACK.

DEAR HELOISE: Half the confusion — especially on Sunday mornings — has been cut at our house by the installation of a clock in our bathroom. It is wonderful how much less noise has resulted; it does away with dilly-dallying in the tub, shower, and hair-combing! Each member of the family is limited to a set time.

MRS. A.G.P.

Tickets Placed On Sale For Wellsville Play

The Liberty Players of the Tri-State area announced today tickets have been placed on sale for the production of "My Three Angels" April 4-6 at the Liberty Theater in Wellsville.

The tickets will be delivered or mailed on request. They may be obtained by contacting the theater at L.E. 2-2474 or Howard Guildoo at L.E. 2-4014. They also will be on sale at the box office the nights of the play. The players will meet Monday night at 8.

The average worker loses about 5½ days a year because of injury or illness.

Robert Sample Awaiting 101st Birthday Friday

Robert W. Sample of East Liverpool will reach a milestone Friday that is realized by very few persons in the world — his 101st birthday.

The former Wellsville and East Liverpool shoe store operator will begin a second century of life at his winter home in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Sample purchased a shoe store in Wellsville in 1895 and moved to East Liverpool two years later, the year McKinley was elected president. He operated an East Liverpool shoe business for 33 years, retiring in 1930.

His only surviving close relative is a son, Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr. of McKinnon Ave. The "centenarian plus-one" to be resides at 600 30th St., North, St. Petersburg.

Mississippi was the first state to recognize the property rights of married women. In 1839 it adopted a law giving wives equal rights with their husbands in buying or selling property.

Bonds To Be Issued For Fallout Shelter

CINCINNATI (AP) — Officials in suburban Terrace Park say bonds for a $250,000 community fallout shelter will be issued soon.

The bond issue for a combination fallout shelter — municipal building was approved in November 1962 but a taxpayer's suit filed three months later tied up the project.

Common Pleas Judge Ralph B. Kohlen dismissed Walter Schnoerr's suit Tuesday, ruling that "a public building to house municipal facilities including a nuclear blast and fallout shelter are purposes so naturally and closely related that they converge into one purpose."

Schnoerr had contended the bonds would be illegal because Ohio law specifies an issue "shall relate to only one purposes."

2 Men Are Killed In Car-Truck Crash

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Two chemical company employees — one an Ohioan and the other from New Jersey — were killed Tuesday at the intersection of Ohio Rts. 619 and 44 when their car collided with a semi-trailer truck loaded with 38,000 pounds of sheet steel. The victims were James W. Sawyer, 30, of Warren, and Carl Elmquist, 38, of Short Hills, N. J., division sales manager for Van Staaten Chemical Co. of Chicago.

The truck driver, 56-year-old Milfred Irwin of Cleveland was not seriously injured.

Ever puree cooked frozen Brussels sprouts? The French cuisinier favors this way of serving it vegetable. If you try this, be sure the sprouts are soft enough after cooking to puree easily, then add a generous seasoning of butter.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

Orson Welles' Radio Mastery Recalled

Alan Gill

Live radio drama died Sept. 30, 1962, when the president of CBS Radio, Arthur Hull Hayes, pulled the switch that ended the last of the series, "S u s p e n s e," and "Johnny Dollar."

"We're turning," he said, "to what radio does best." (He meant news and information.)

And I wonder. Was radio a "beautiful and powerful medium" for drama, as Orson Welles called it? Or was that most romantic of faculties, the memory, lying once again?

TO FIND OUT, I recently listened to a recording of a broadcast that had made a strong impression upon me at age 14, almost 25 years ago.

It was the Orson Welles "Mercury Theater on the Air" production of G. K. Chesterton's nightmarish novel, "The Man Who Was Thursday," starring Welles, and featuring (among others) Paul Stewart and Joseph Cotten.

It was done on CBS the night of Sept. 5, 1938, just seven weeks before the "War of the Worlds" broadcast that scared a few thousand Americans out of their pants.

Next, I talked to some of the people who were with Welles in his radio days—Agnes Moorhead, Mercedes McCambridge, Richard Wilson, Cotten, Stewart—to check their memories.

RESULT: We all agree: Welles, Mercury people, a quarter of a century ago, hurled a number of dramas onto the airwaves to create an art form in sound that was unique for its day and never has been surpassed.

Welles was 23 years old and hardly known beyond the Hudson, except vaguely as "that child prodigy, that boy wonder" out of Chicago.

Actually, he was all over the radio dial, had been saying, "The Shadow knows, ha, ha, ha," for more than a year, and was so busy he took to renting an ambulance that would speed him, sirens crying, to his next assignment.

Then came the CBS offer of a 60-minute summer series—dramatization of the classics, told in the "First Person Singular" (subtitle of the series), written and produced by and starring Welles—and the man jumped.

"HE WAS BIG," you know," Agnes Moorhead recalled. "Tall, a very young man. A baby face. He wore bulky tweeds, carried a thorn cane, had a shock of black hair, beautiful hands, long, tapering fingers—and immaculate! He had a coin in his hand always, or he was doing magic tricks with a handkerchief. He had terribly brittle bones and forever was breaking one of them. We'd sympathize and he'd say, 'It's an omen; means good luck.'"

Mercedes McCambridge said Welles was "more than anybody else. Everything was more. He was a big monster tent of a man holding out his arms to you."

"We did six jobs each in those days," said Joseph Cotten. "But we were young and didn't know the difference between hysteria and work."

EVERETT SLOANE described what he called Welles' "admirable audacity."

Sloane once picked up a copy of "War and Peace" that had been lying on Welles' side table. Across a few pages a word had been scribbled: "Rewrite."

"In our radio stuff," Paul Stewart said, "Orson used everything. Echo chambers. Music. Crowds. The total creative tools. And the greatest of the tools was his own voice."

Cotten again: "The techniques of 'Citizen Kane' were born of radio—the use of sound, the odd perspective, the overlaps. I was very proud to be a part of it."

THEY WERE ALL proud and should have been. Listening to "The Man Who Was Thursday" in the basement of CBS Radio headquarters—in a locked closet beyond a locked office—was a reassuring experience.

Through it, the listener pictured two superb artists, the young Welles and the old Chesterton, dancing in obese gait through a bad dream.

Their imagined dance was illustrative, I think, of the best of radio drama; wasn't the art of the "Mercury Theater," the "Columbia Workshop," "Suspense" and "Lights Out" most often the art of nightmare?

City Students To See Speed Typist Tuesday

Franklin H. Dye, a speed typing expert and business educator, will show East Liverpool High School students how to type 140 words a minute with ease and accuracy at a demonstration Tuesday at 12:55 p. m.

Dye, who holds a master's degree from Boston University and is sponsored by the Royal Typewriter school department of the Royal McBee Corp., will type a series of high speed tests on an electric machine and also demonstrate correct techniques for operating both electric and manual typewriters.

He will cover techniques necessary for building typing accuracy and speed, including correct posture, paper handling, key stroking, space bar and shift key operation, rhythm and reading habits.

Parent Wants Teacher's Role Discussed

Some parents feel that at PTA programs the faults and frailties of parents are discussed almost exclusively, with the assumption that teachers are always right. A Wisconsin mother writes: "I have five children, four in school, including elementary, junior high and high school. My child Dr. Garry Meyers dren have attended, in all, six different schools, which means they've had a variety of teachers. 'I have attended a multitude of PTA meetings and have heard how to care for my children's teeth, eyes, ears, minds, bodies, emotions, safety and social behavior. I have learned much but have also wasted many evenings.

"ON MANY occasions, program chairmen have asked for suggestions for programs for the coming year. On several of these, I have asked for talk from a good speaker on the influence of a teacher on a child.

"Parents to whom this has been mentioned are afraid of offending the teachers, although they themselves are interested. I understand that PTA means Parent-Teacher Association. Why are all the talks directed to the parents?

"In seven out of eight of your suggestions for the PTA, you have the word 'home,' the eighth has 'parents.' You have not given a full-scope suggestion here. The hands of the millions of parents who try, from the day their child is born, to raise him to have all the desirable qualities on this earth, are tied at the still crucial learning stage once our children enter school.

"As parents, we have in this country the privilege of changing doctors, dentists, sitters, shoe stores or what have you so that we can get the best or most for our children. We do not have the opportunity to choose the teacher with whom our child must spend nine months of each year."

MY REPLY in part: There may be considerable truth in what you write. We parents have the privilege of placing our child in a private school and thus more nearly choose his teachers. But, as anyone can see, there soon would be chaos if we could choose our child's teacher in the public school as we choose our doctor or dentist.

As I assume that most who read my column are parents, I rarely dwell on the errors and frailties of teachers. While I do receive some descriptions of "terrible" teachers by parents and have no doubt that some of these are true, I don't quote from these letters. I believe they apply to only a few teachers.

To print them in my column might cause many parents to suppose that all teachers are as bad. For the same reason I have not urged the discussion on PTA programs of the shortcomings of teachers. Yet I concede that you made an important point.

When I write again on the subject you refer to, I shall try to suggest that there might occasionally be discussed at the PTA what parents should expect of the teacher as well as what the teacher should expect of the parents.

THERE COULD be a panel of parents and teachers together, when both could give their points of view. This, of course, would have to be done with skill and tact, lest more harm than good result.

My bulletins, "Helping Your Child Succeed at School" and "Parents and the Child's Homework," may be secured by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Rep. Hays Expenses Listed

Rep. Powell Spent Less Than Others Did Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., one of Congress' most publicized travelers, spent considerably less than did many of his colleagues who went abroad in 1962.

Powell spent the equivalent of $1,543.50 in American-owned funds during his 35 days in five foreign nations. He, as did most of his traveling colleagues, used counterpart funds in some countries. These funds are money received by the United States in exchange for goods and services under the foreign aid and other laws.

But that journey, recently the most publicized of congressional junkies, didn't even make Powell the top spender of the House Education and Labor Committee, which he heads.

The two women committee staff members who went along each spent more—Tamara Wall $1,653 and Corinne Huff $1,775.

As did many others who represented committees on "official business" abroad, Powell was accompanied by committee aides whose expenses also were listed.

And former Rep. Carroll D. Kearns of Pennsylvania, who was the ranking Republican on Powell's committee until defeated last May in a primary, reported expenses of more than $2,000 for a post-election swing through seven countries.

The laws make counterpart funds available to members of Congress when they go abroad.

Reports on the cost of congressional travel were published in Tuesday's Congressional Record.

by the House Administration Committee.

The travelers themselves filed the reports as required by law and Powell's contained more detail than most of them. For example, the New Yorker noted just how many days he spent in each country, and how much he spent on tips, taxis and other miscellaneous expenses as well as major items like food and lodging.

The Washington Post reported that the overseas travel bill in counterpart funds for Powell's entire committee ran to $18,963.

This, the Post said, was topped by the Senate-House Economic Committee which reported an outlay of $22,325.62 in overseas spending by members and their staffs.

On one trip to investigate European cartels, a task force of joint committee staff members and consultants spent $16,352.24 but so far, said the Post, has not issued a public report on how the investigation went.

The Post reported these expenditures of counterpart funds:

Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-N.Y., and two staff assistants listed combined spending of $3,182.22 for a 20-day journey that took in Nigeria, the Congo, Belgium, Germany, the United Kingdom, Poland and Austria in behalf of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., chairman of the Senate Labor subcommittee, listed spending of $1,280 as an official U.S. adviser to the annual conference of the International Labor Organization in Geneva.

Expenses of Ohio members of Congress, mostly in counterpart funds, as listed in the reports, follows:

Rep. William E. Minshall, R-Ohio, $1,030 in American money in the United States, Mexico, Guatemala, Costa Rica, Panama, Jamaica and Haiti.

Rep. Michael J. Kirwan, D-Ohio, $1,312 in American money in the United States, Panama and Mexico.

Rep. Frank T. Bow, R-Ohio, $3,367 in American money in Japan, Hong Kong, Thailand, India and Italy.

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, $39 in Brazil, $142.50 in Argentina.

Rep. Thomas L. Ashley, D-Ohio, $310.25 in England, $510.20 in France.

Rep. Samuel Devine, R-Ohio, $586.43 in France, $159.45 in Germany, $153.67 in Italy, $190.11 in Spain, $73.54 in the United States.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, $689.70 in France, $154.47 in Germany, $260.91 in Italy, $193.91 in Spain, $2,108.41 in the United States. Separately listed $215.42 in Bermuda.

3 Students Dismissed At Findlay College

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Dr. O. J. Wilson, president of Findlay College, has announced the expulsion of three students, two of them seniors, for their activities in connection with a newly formed student complaints committee.

The committee was formed several weeks ago to protest administration policies, and has been publishing a weekly "newsletter."

The students dismissed Tuesday are Mrs. Barbara Williamson, senior from Mount Cory; David Mumy, senior from North Baltimore; and Mrs. Frankie Foster, junior from Findlay.

School officials estimate only about eight or nine students remain on the committee. Findlay College is a private institution.

Cincy U. Receives $20,412 U.S. Grant

CINCINNATI (AP)—The University of Cincinnati Medical Center has received a $20,412 federal grant to train graduate students as radiation health specialists.

The grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare probably will be extended for four more years, UC officials said. Students in the special training program will work both in laboratories and with patients at General Hospital.

The first University Press was established at Cornell University in 1869.

Federal Judge Sets Hearing

Multi-Million Credit Firm Placed In Receivership

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The multi-million-dollar Certified Credit Corp. and 21 affiliated companies were thrown into a receivership Tuesday in Franklin County Common Pleas Court.

Judge Dana F. Reynolds named John Martin, public accountant and former mayor of suburban Grandview, to act as receiver.

The action followed agreement by Atty. Gen. William Saxbe and the defendants to include the 21 affiliates in the receivership. The original petition named only Certified Credit and four subsidiaries.

Meanwhile, in U. S. District Court in Dayton, 20 stockholders obtained a restraining order against 10 subsidiary companies, prohibiting them from transferring any of their funds "except in the normal course of business." A similar injunction has been granted here by Judge Reynolds against Certified Credit Corp.

Federal Judge Carl Weinman set a hearing for Tuesday at 2 p.m. to determine the subsequent course of action.

In a prepared statement, Daniel E. Armel, chairman of certified's board, expressed confidence in the firm's financial condition and said the allegations for the most part have to do with accounting procedures. He said the receiver will find that the security holders' positions are secure.

Certified Credit Corp. has offices in Columbus, Cincinnati, Akron, Cuyahoga Falls, Newark, Dayton, Cleveland, Canton, Springfield and Wapakoneta, and its subsidiaries reportedly do business in a dozen or more states. The corporate structure is believed to be worth more than $40 million.

Of the 20 security holders filing the restraining order in federal court at Dayton, 13 are Springfield residents, one is in Bexley and the others are in Indiana and Illinois. The action was also brought against Armel and Dr. Robert Young, chairman of the executive committee, who were also named in the receivership suit.

Certified Credit is headed by Robert N. Savage, president. The firm and its subsidiaries are involved in small loans and insurance and operate the Candlelight motels along the golf coast. There reportedly are investments of some 20,000 debenture holders, individually averaging from $500 to $1,000.

Assistant Secretary Speaks

Idea Spurred Automation Is Black Beast Of Labor

CLEVELAND (AP)—Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds told more than 500 persons at a "birthday party" marking the 50th anniversary of the Department of Labor that "we reject the idea that automation is the black beast of labor."

Reynolds was the main speaker Tuesday night at a crowded dinner party attended by Ohio labor leaders. He voiced disappointment that Cleveland's long and costly newspaper strike has not been settled.

"I had hoped for a settlement in the newspaper strike as a birthday present," he said. "But apparently the phase of the moon is not quite right yet." He added that both sides should rededicate their efforts at reaching a quick settlement.

Reynolds presented awards from Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz to two Ohioans.

The honors were presented to Miss Elizabeth S. McGee of Cleveland, executive secretary of the Consumers League of Ohio for 38 years and head of National Consumers League for 15 years; and to Michael J. Lyden, president of the Ohio Federation of Labor for 36 years and the first president of the combined Ohio AFL-CIO. Lyden has been in the labor movement for 60 years.

The occasion was a happy one. The only sharp note came in a fiery speech by Patrick J. O'Malley, president of the Cleveland AFL-CIO.

"There are new problems facing labor in America today," O'Malley shouted. "The old solutions are no longer applicable and the entire country must work at it," he said, adding:

"I'm talking about the advent of automation. These technological improvements are putting people out of work. Our people are being automated out of jobs. We're far progress in the labor movement, but something must be done about the loss of jobs."

W. O. Walker, director of the Ohio Division of Industrial Relations, brought greetings from Gov. James A. Rhodes. Other speakers included Mayor Ralph S. Locher and David Kane of Dayton, president of the Ohio AFL-CIO.

Sets $1 Million Expansion Plan

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The Dayton Art Institute has announced a $1 million dollar expansion program with more than two-thirds of the cost to be underwritten by the Rike Family Foundation.

John Sullivan Jr., president of the institute's board of trustees, said work will begin this summer on a $686,767, three-story structure at the rear of the present museum. The cost of the building and some $400,000 in equipment will be absorbed by the foundation, Sullivan said.

He added that the gift is "in the memory of the late Susan Rike McDonald, an enthusiastic painter and writer and sister of the late Frederick H. Rike." Rike was a pioneer Dayton merchant who founded the Rike-Humler Department store.

In addition to the gift from the foundation, Sullivan said the trustees would attempt to enlist other interests to provide a $400,000 capitalization fund for operation and maintenance of the expanded institute.

Capt. James Noel, of the sixth battalion, said the woman's husband was at work. Cause of the blaze was being investigated.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE UNDERWATER WORLD

QUESTION: What's new under the sea?

ANSWER: Experts say the ocean is filled with an immense amount of food and minerals useful to man. These riches, of course, have been there all the time. What's new is that in the last few years man has made tremendous strides in learning how to dive safely under the surface to study what's there and to begin work toward harvesting the products of the sea in a really big way. We illustrate some of the exciting developments (1, 2, 3, 4). Our deep water pioneers are probing the depths and laying plans for larger installations which will no doubt be lowered into the sea later on.

What can we expect from this kind of development? It may be possible to set up fish farms underwater. Whales may be branded the way cattle are in the west—only the whaleboys will be carried by submarines! Small subs may be used to haul huge nets below the surface. Permanent research stations to study marine life will probably be established. Minerals will be sucked off the ocean floor by vacuum cleaner-like machines, and oil rigs will work underwater. These are just a few ways in which we will benefit from the new frontier under the sea.

FOR YOU TO DO: It's fun to dream up inventions and good for the imagination. Make a sketch of some new underwater idea and pin up on your wall. Who knows, you might read about it being tried out some day!

Steve Regier, of Newton, Kan., wins the weekly grand prize of a set of Britannica Junior Encyclopedias for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you may win a set too, or the daily prize of $10.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Wednesday, March 13, the 72nd day of 1963. There are 293 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history:
On this day in 1884, the United States adopted the system of standard time. The medium enables one to determine the time in various parts of the nation and the world in a simple, accurate manner. Adoption of the method eliminated the confusion that had prevailed previously.

On this day:
In 1775, the first blood of the American Revolution was spilled at Westminster, Vt.

In 1868, Arkansas ratified a new state constitution.
In 1938, Adolf Hitler's Nazi Germany annexed Austria.
In 1942, the British Royal Air Force pounded the German city of Cologne during World War II.
In 1946, Soviet dictator Joseph Stalin referred to Winston Churchill as "a firebrand of war" after the British leader's speech at Fulton, Mo., in which Churchill urged closer bonds between the United States and Britain.

Today's birthdays:
Orchestra leader Sammy Kaye is 53. Retired U. S. Marine Gen. Alexander Vandergrift is 75.
